2021 Hurricane Forecast

Submitted By Insider Staff

Extended Range Forecast of Atlantic Seasonal Hurricane Activity and Landfall Strike Probability for 2021

The Colorado State University (SCU) anticipates that the 2021 Atlantic Basin Hurricane Season will have above-normal activity. Current weak La Niña conditions may transition to neutral ENSO by this summer/fall, but the odds of a significant El Niño seem unlikely. Sea surface temperatures averaged across the tropical Atlantic are currently near average, while subtropical Atlantic sea surface temperatures are warmer than normal. It is anticipated that an above-average probability for major hurricanes making landfall along the continental United States coastline and in the Caribbean. As is the case with all hurricane seasons, coastal residents are reminded that it only takes one hurricane making landfall to make it an active season for them. They should prepare the same for every season, regardless of how much activity is predicted.

They predict 17 named storms with the Atlantic Hurricane Season 2021. That is 40 percent (5 named storms) more than an average hurricane season.

The 2021 Hurricane names are: Ana, Bill, Claudette, Danny, Elsa, Fred, Grace, Henri, Ida, Julian, Kate, Larry, Mindy, Nicholas, Odette, Peter, Rose, Sam, Teresa, Victor, Wanda.

You won't be hearing the Greek alphabet anymore if the season produces more than 21 named storms. Since Eta, Theta and Zeta sounded so familiar, they were confusing to some, especially those that speak other languages across the Caribbean. They have been replaced by a reserve list that will remain unchanged. See Below:

Hurricane Season Expected To Be Above Average Again

By Scotty Leamon, Public Safety Information Officer, Coconut Creek Police Department

Hurricane season started June 1st. Most storm experts are expecting another "above average" season. So it's time to get prepared now so you don't have to be so worried later.

It all starts with getting together a hurricane kit. It should include essentials such as water, non-perishable food items, a place to keep your valuable papers, money and credit cards, and a first-aid kit. Keep it some place where you will remember it, and it's easy to get to. You also want to make it portable, in the sense that you can grab it and go if you need to.

Speaking of supplies, it is strongly recommended that you have seven days of supplies built up before the storm hits. Among the valuable lessons we learned back in 2005, from Hurricane Wilma, is that we need a lot more supplies than the nationally recommended three days' worth in case of a storm.

For those of you who were around for the aftermath of Wilma, you may well remember that the lights did not come back on for well over three days.

If we get in the area of a Hurricane Watch, your preparations should begin. Fill the car up with gas. Make sure your hurricane kit is ready to go. Refill any prescription medications. Listen to City officials on if and when to put up shutters. Make sure your generator is working and you have enough gas to run it.

If a Hurricane Warning is issued, fill up your bath tub and jugs with water. Optimally, you want to have at least a gallon of water per person per day. Get ready in case the power goes out. Think about which room in your home is the safest and stay there when the storm hits.

After the storm hits, it's important to remember to stay inside until the "all clear" is given. Never touch any low-hanging wires or downed power lines. Report those downed lines to your utility company and the police. When driving after the hurricane hits, allow yourself extra time to get to your destination in case you encounter obstacles such as damaged roadways or debris. Also, never run your generator indoors.

The City will keep you up-to-date on all watches and warnings through social media and our CocoAlerts, which you can sign up for by visiting the "hurricane information" page on the City's website, which is www.coconutcreek.net. You can also type in "hurricane" in the search engine at the top right of our page and it will allow you to easily navigate to the hurricane information page. You will be able to easily find shelter information on our hurricane page, including shelter information for people with special needs.

The City also activates and updates a Hurricane Hotline when we are facing the possibility of a storm. The number is 954-973-6771. It is also a good idea to write important phone numbers, like that one, on a sheet of paper and hang it up where you can see it, say on your refrigerator, in case you need it.

We have been fortunate that Coconut Creek has not taken any major hits from any named storms over the years. Let's hope it stays that way during this hurricane season.

Service Equals Reward

By Sheriff Gregory Tony

Building A Culture Of Accountability

In public safety, there is no room for error. As the leader of an organization responsible for ensuring the safety of everyone who lives in and visits Broward County, it is my responsibility to ensure we hold ourselves to the highest standards of accountability. That means we not only correct areas needing improvement, but we also examine ourselves to determine if what we are doing is working and, if not, make it right. Accountability is a promise I made to you on my first day as sheriff.

BSO's Office of Inspector General (OIG) is a new bureau within the Department of Professional Standards that will hold our agency accountable in all areas of our operation. The OIG provides oversight of all departments within BSO. This protocol ensures if we find problems, we work toward developing viable solutions. We are designing the OIG with transparency in mind. Our focus is to work more cohesively, fiscally responsible and operationally sound.

The OIG encompasses three divisions:

- The Division of Internal Affairs and Public Corruption ensures we thoroughly and objectively investigate allegations of misconduct against employees.

- The Division of Internal Audit identifies ways BSO can operate more efficiently and be fiscally accountable.

- The Division of Policy and Accountability conducts ongoing independent reviews of internal departments to ensure we exceed public safety standards.

Combining these three divisions under one bureau will ensure continuous review, effective communication and shared problem-solving. To spearhead this new office, I have selected Major Scott Champagne, a 23-year law enforcement veteran. During his career, Major Champagne has led BSO's Division of Internal Affairs and Public Corruption Unit. He has demonstrated experience in separating himself from agency business to review claims of wrongdoing independently.

I will always focus on improvements for public safety. This new department has a clear mission: to help everyone at BSO do our jobs more efficiently and transparently so we can better serve you.

Am I Losing It?

By Irv Kaplan

O'Hare Airport in Chicago always took great pains so that people using their parking structure would be able to find their cars. Each floor of the multi-level building is not only numbered but also has the name and logo of a Chicago sports team: the Cubs, The Bulls, the Blackhawks. Easy to remember! And so, when Bev and her daughter Tracy returned from Israel several years ago and I went to pick her up, I parked my car and headed for the elevator without a worry in the world. We met at the baggage carousel (Tracy's partner Lynn was also there), gathered up the luggage, and headed for our cars. Lynn announced that theirs was on the fifth floor and I said mine was on the third.

When we got on the elevators, however, and I looked at the buttons, the Blackhawk picture looked more familiar than the Bulls.

"I think I am on three," I announced. We got off on three, and they continued their ride. But my car wasn't on three. And it wasn't on four. And it wasn't even on two. We went up and down, leaving the elevator and searching the nearby parked cars. As my own car had been shipped to Florida the day before, so I was driving a loaner from my son Michael.

Bev told me how her late husband Jim had once come to pick her up and said, "I know where my car is in relation to the elevator, I just don't know which floor." Now, history seemed to be repeating itself.

Bev phoned Tracy, who fortunately was still in the lot as Lynn had misplaced their parking ticket. I got on the phone to describe my missing car and told Tracy that I was driving a grey Saab station wagon with a trailer hitch on the back. The hitch had a red ribbon tied around it. Tracy said they would drive every floor, starting where they were on five and working their way down. In a matter of seconds, my phone rang. Tracy had found the car on the 5th floor. It wasn't grey; it was black. It wasn't a station wagon, it was a sedan.

It did have a hitch, and that hitch did have a red ribbon. But the clincher was that when Tracy got out and peered through the window, she saw a package of Mandelbread on the front seat!

One comfort: if we had been lost for hours, at least we would eventually have had refreshments.

Do Pastors Deserve Expensive Cars And Mansions?

By Mobolaji Adedoyin

I was brought up as a Christian in a Methodist Church. I still believe in the teachings of Jesus Christ. Every religion has its own black eye. For centuries, powerful nations used Christianity to cover up their devious agenda and stole resources from less powerful nations. On smaller scales, I know there were and still are many pastors that are not faithful and do not follow the teachings of Christ.

The question is do pastors deserve to have private planes, drive expensive cars and live in big mansions? My answer to that question is YES, if their congregations provide them with those luxuries. I believe most pastors render very important services to millions of people that are spiritually weak in one way or the other. Those people need sermons and preaching regularly in order to maintain their sanity. Many of them need to belong to religious communities where they can socialize and get spiritual and psychological healing. If not for numerous pastors around the world, there would be more suicide and killings.

For providing those important services, pastors deserve decent living and very comfortable means of transportation to move around. If pastors are uncomfortable or unhappy, they won't be able to help their congregations. I believe pastors should live in good houses or apartments, eat and sleep well - only their congregations and other believers can provide those things for them.

By the way, there is nothing wrong if someone is spiritually weak or unmatured. The important thing is to recognize that weakness and find a way to correct or deal with it. Surviving in this world is not easy - one has to "think outside the box" in order to cope and adjust to continuous changes in society, which are not always pleasant.

I know there were and still are very bad pastors: some embezzle money from congregations, abuse women and children or live double lives. My answer for those bad pastors is let the law and their congregations deal with and punish them.

There is a saying, "Only God knows who worships Him."

Feathering Our Nests

By Beverly Friend

After we had lived next door to Roz and Saul Haskell in adjacent Lincolnwood townhouses for several years, we decided that life would be improved if we remodeled our kitchens. We didn't want to do much - but were unimpressed by our dull, uninspired cabinets. Replacing these would give us a satisfying lift. We investigated and hired a Mr. Specking to do the work. I have no memory of how we found him - perhaps he had been one of Saul's orthopedic patients. If so, he was a success story, a very agile carpenter.

We picked the same style wooden cabinets except that Roz's were brown and mine white. Shortly before completion, Roz announced that Mr. Specking would be bringing over knobs the following week.

"Bringing over knobs?" I asked. Will he be bringing a few different styles for us to make choices?

"No." Roz answered. "He is just bringing the ones he selected." I was shocked. After all, this had been a major and expensive (for us) transaction. Just any knobs would not do. There were so many possible choices: round, oblong, even triangular. Then what about color - to match or contrast with the cabinets? And what material to consider: wood? metal? ceramic? This could not be a quick decision. It was major - a once-in-a-lifetime choice.

For the next few days, I travelled from store to store (specialty shops as well as the kitchen sections of department stores - Marshall Field's, Sears, you name them) examining knobs of every variety and price. My eyeballs began to cross. At bedtime, knobs danced before my closed lids: round! oblong! brown! white! wooden! gold! silver! brass! The selections were dazzling. Finally, I made the difficult decision and bought a sample home to show Roz. Mr. Specking had been there earlier in the day and left his choice. I marched into Roz's kitchen, and placing the small brown paper bag on the table, reached in my hand to pull out my choice - so diligently selected. Roz began to laugh. She went over to the counter, yanked open a top drawer and brought out his choice.

They were the same: slim brass, or perhaps copper, rectangles etched with what to me looked like a Chinese pattern. They were perfect -- for either brown or white cabinets - or both.

The choice was made and never regretted. Had I been able to predict that we would ever move from these cozy homes, or that I would ever write up this episode, I would have brought one with me today - or at least a photo.

I did search online. No luck. Who knows if what I recall is the reality - or if their appearance is only true to my unreliable memory? I am unsure if I would even recognize them after so many years. I cannot draw them, and sadly recognize that I will never see them again. We no longer live in the townhouses. The knobs still remain, I believe -- now in the kitchens of strangers. Even for you and this essay I will not knock on their doors, enter,

A Belated Letter To Poppa

By Herby Teicher

February 23, 2021

Dear Poppa,

You died in 1944 when I was nine years old and you were only forty-eight. You and your brother Hymie were carpenters building barracks for the United States Air Force to house thousands of airmen. During that bitter cold winter in upstate New York, you developed pneumonia and struggled to get home only to die a few days later in the Brooklyn Jewish Hospital. Momma said that you asked her for a glass of orange juice. As she handed it to you, you closed your eyes and died. In retrospect, you died a hero; sacrificing your life to help support the defeat of the evil Nazis, who had murdered so many of our relatives.

I hardly knew you during my childhood because you were always coming or going. All I have are vague memories of the three of us. There is one memory that stands out in my mind.

I remember that on a warm spring day we were formally dressed, and we were all walking hand in hand. We passed the Lutheran Cemetery as we were heading toward the Myrtle Avenue El Station. My naive eyes glanced at the monuments topped by angels with hands pointing upwards. I asked you "Why are those people making speeches?" You and Momma laughed heartily at my childish observation. You, Poppa, then grasped my hand firmly.

That fleeting, vivid image was enough for me to forever remember your strength and goodness. This was the greatest gift I ever received. Thank you for your selflessness. You did well in your short stay on earth!

Take heart Poppa - What is remembered lives!

Your loving son,

Herby

Even “Singles” Need Estate Plans

If you don't have a spouse or children, you might think you don't need to do much estate planning. But if you have any assets, any familial connections, any interest in supporting charitable groups – not to mention a desire to control your own future – you do need to establish an estate plan.

In evaluating your needs for this type of planning, let's start with what might happen if you die intestate – that is, without a last will and testament. In this scenario, your assets will likely have to go through the probate process, which means they'll be distributed by the court according to your state's intestate succession laws, essentially without regard to your wishes. Even if you don't have children yourself, you may have nephews or nieces, or even children of cousins or friends, to whom you would like to leave some of your assets, which can include not just money but also cars, collectibles, family memorabilia and so on. But if everything you own goes through probate, there's no guarantee that these individuals will end up with what you wanted them to have.

If you want to leave something to family members or close friends, you will need to indicate this in your last will and testament or other estate planning documents. But you also may want to provide support to one or more charitable organizations. Of course, you can simply name these charities in your will, but there may be options that could provide you with more benefits.

One such possibility is a charitable remainder trust. Under this arrangement, you'd transfer appreciated assets – such as stocks, mutual funds or other securities – into an irrevocable trust. The trustee, whom you've named – in fact, you could serve as trustee yourself – can then sell the assets at full market value, avoiding the capital gains taxes you'd have to pay if you sold them yourself, outside a trust. Plus, if you itemize, you may be able to claim a charitable deduction on your taxes. With the proceeds, the trust can purchase income-producing assets and provide you with an income stream for the rest of your life. Upon your death, the remaining trust assets will go the charities you've named.

Aside from family members and charitable groups, there's a third entity that's central to your estate plans: yourself. Everyone should make arrangements to protect their interests, but, in the absence of an immediate family, you need to be especially vigilant about your financial and health care decisions. And that's why, as part of your estate planning, you may want to include these two documents: durable power of attorney and a health care proxy.

A durable power of attorney lets you name someone to manage your finances should you become incapacitated. This arrangement is especially important for anyone who doesn't have a spouse to step in. And if you become incapacitated, your health care proxy – also known as a health care surrogate or medical power of attorney – lets you name another person to legally make health care decisions for you if you can't do so yourself.

Estate planning moves can be complex, so you'll need help from a legal professional and possibly your tax and financial advisors. You may not have an immediate family, but you still need to take steps to protect your legacy.

2021 Property Exemptions – It Is Not Too Late to Apply

While the timely deadline to apply for any 2021 exemption was March 1st, applicants can late file until September 20, 2021. If you both owned and made the property your permanent residence as of January 1, 2021, you can still apply for 2021 Homestead Exemption and any other exemptions. You can apply for Homestead Exemption online at web.bcpa.net as well as view all the other exemptions available to qualified applicants.

Portability Extended to Three Tax Years

Portability allows eligible Homesteaded property owners to pay less in property taxes on their new home by moving their “Save Our Homes” savings (up to $500,000) from one Florida property to another Florida property when establishing Homestead Exemption on the new property. Beginning with property owners who establish a new Homestead Exemption for tax year 2021, applicants may now transfer portability savings from a Homestead Exemption held in any of the three immediately preceding tax years. To be eligible to move this SOH benefit, the new property must receive Homestead Exemption within three tax years – not calendar years – of the “abandonment” of the Homestead Exemption at the previous property.

Note: Homestead Exemption and Portability do not automatically transfer. You must apply for Homestead Exemption on the new property and submit a Portability application. Portability does not require you sell your previous home, but merely for you to no longer receive the Homestead Exemption on it.

Disabled Veterans & Military Exemptions

Florida Statutes provide for several exemptions available to veterans with a service-connected disability, as well as the un-remarried surviving spouse of the disabled veteran. These exemptions require a Certificate of Disability from the US Government or US Department of Veterans Affairs be provided to our office. To view the requirements for the service-connected veteran and deployed military exemptions, please visit our website at <https://web.bcpa.net/bcpaclient/#/VeteransExemption>

From The Other Side Of The Couch

By Merri Goldberg, LCSW-C, BCD, FASGPP

PONDERING...

Hello, My Friend, Hello

Random thoughts from the other side of the couch to ponder on. The inspiration for this month came from an unlikely source. Each Sunday for the past few months I sat down near the elevator entrance with two friends, the Brenner's, masked, six feet apart and in the open air. We sit and talk for an hour or more as people pass by. It is so good to begin to be together again even masked and at a distance. This time, I for whatever the reason, found myself observing the people who passed and noting whether they said hello, smiled or spoke to us. Many did not. I, strangely found myself saddened by this. Why? On reflection, I thought about the fact that we had been isolated for an unimaginable amount of time. Even before this, I had never met some of these people who lived in my building. We were now coming out with the opportunity to greet new community members or intensify old relationships. A smile, a greeting, an acknowledgement. In the simplest way coming together and building even stronger community. Get with it! Greeting others will make them and you feel better.

ON RECOGNITION - Think about it for a minute. What is there about recognition that feels wonderful. I went to the pool the other day and heard some people from the deck calling "Merri," "Merri." Good to see you again. It felt wonderful. Interesting what happens inside when people you haven't seen for twelve months call to you in person. We all have a need to be known and to touch others more closely than the phone.

ON OPTIMISM or Mr. Rodgers Neighborhood - Somehow, when I think about optimism, I am surprised that I think about Mr. Rodgers who appeared when I was already in college but is now gaining new popularity. He was known for his kindness but also for turning cynicism (which right now we all have some of) into optimism. In his first program about 1967 he is excited about going into his new neighborhood. He wants to see everything the neighborhood has to offer and to meet his new neighbors and make friends. Single episodes are currently available.

Listen with your "child ears" and consider some of his messages as right on for our current times. In a way, as Covid subsides we are going out into a new neighborhood. Reach out to meet or meet again your neighbors and consider being surprised and like Mr. Rodgers, excited by what you discover. Reach out to someone who has been alone during the past year. That act of kindness is even more special. Perhaps take a small food treat and be delighted (with Mr. Rodgers optimism) at what an interesting person you discover. And take a fresh look at the neighborhood, Wynmoor, and all of the things your neighborhood has to offer. When I went outside I had almost forgotten how beautiful and sweet smelling the gardenias were. Among other things, how lucky to have such wonderful, private gardeners.

ON BREATHING - As our masks come off we are so aware that we can breathe again, both physically and psychologically.

ON LONLINESS - The last year has had lonely times. I have been so much more aware of missing friends and that phone calls did not suffice. I missed the physical closeness and the visual closeness enormously. On the positive side, I called and contacted people I hadn't seen in a long time and it felt like time had never passed. It was magical.

Perhaps equally importantly I found how much I liked having alone time. My ever-broken iPhone was often in trouble and I grew to sometimes enjoy the quiet time rather than being frustrated. I had never enjoyed just doing nothing before and discovered new meaning to taking a nap or just relaxing and doing nothing "meaningful." It was okay.

ON ANXIETY - I am increasingly surprised to hear some of the strongest people I know tell me they still feel anxiety and don't know why. I have pondered on this and wonder "Is it because "its" still not over? I wonder too, if we have grown up to feel relatively safe, whatever that means to each of us? Last year with Covid and all of the other political and social events swirling around it, we realized there was no certainty about anything.

Could this happen again? There is no longer a guarantee of safety. In this situation, low lying anxiety is not pathological. As much as it seems, things are going back to what is the new normal.

We can all try to reach out and like Mr. Rodgers be optimistic, kind and creating an even closer and better community.

I loved the feedback about last month's article.

Are You Living With, Or Worried About Someone Suffering With Chronic Back Pain?

By Leading Back Pain Expert, Todd James

Do you, or someone you love, suffer with back pain? Does the pain get worse when you stand or walk? Do you experience pain, numbness or tingling into your butt or down your leg? Do you have pain when you sit for long periods or drive? Are you afraid your pain will get worse if you don't do anything about it? Has the pain gotten so bad, that you avoid many activities that you used to enjoy?

If you are 55+ and answered YES to any of these questions, then please read on because I have some special information about relief of your back pain.

It's a shame so many people think their options for dealing with back pain are rest, pain killers, or maybe worse, injections or even surgery. Often these solutions are only temporary, because they don't address the true cause of your back pain, but just mask the symptoms. Others believe there is nothing that can be done, and they will just have to suffer through the pain.

If you or someone you love is experiencing back pain and are wondering if you are doing the right things for your back, I would like to offer a free guide I have created to answer those questions. In this guide, Erasing Back Pain: How to Avoid the 9 Most Painful Mistakes and What You Should Be Doing Instead, you will find information about what will not help ease your back pain and how to make the right choices to get you out of back pain and on the road to enjoying an active, healthy lifestyle again.

I'm Todd James, Physical Therapist and I have been helping 1000s of people 55+ over the last 2 decades find quick, natural, long lasting relief from back pain. I've put together this guide because in easing your back pain it's not just about doing the right things, but also about avoiding the wrong things. When you choose the right path, your recovery from back pain will be much more effective.

If you are currently held back from getting a good night's sleep, being able to walk with friends, getting out on the golf course, or playing with the grand-kids, I invite you to visit www.coconutcreektherapy.com/backpain to claim your free guide. If you prefer, give us a call at 954-972-1200 and we'll be happy to assist you.

Don't let back pain take the joy out of your life. Get started on your path to a pain free active life!

COVID-19 REGULATIONS STRICTLY ENFORCED

An Enriching Day in Mister Rogers' Neighborhood

By Barry Isaac

On a glorious April Saturday, I returned to the Frick Art Museum in hilly, picturesque Pittsburgh. It has quality paintings from the Medieval, Renaissance, and Baroque Periods in its permanent collection.

It has a wonderful room featuring quality Medieval and Renaissance Period Paintings produced by Italian and Netherlandish Masters from the 13th, 14th, and early 15th Century. I saw 2 delightful Italian Byzantine Paintings that captivated me. Rainaldo Rainuccio Da Spoleto's "Madonna and Child Enthroned With Four Scenes of Passion" which employed egg tempera and silver leaf on wood panel and the Master of Schrovegni Chapel Presbytery's "Madonna and Child With Saints, Scenes From Life of Christ and Virgin" which employed egg tempera and gold leaf on wood panel. Both of these devotional theme paintings are very punctilious.

From the Italian Trecento, 14th Century, I admired these fine paintings; Lippo Memmi's "Saint Agnes and Saint Anthony," Francesco Vannuccio's "Saint Catherine of Alexandria," Bernardo Daddi's portable triptych, "Madonna and Child With Saints Peter and Paul, Crucifixion, Annunciation," Master of San Sepolcro's "Angel With Crown of Thorns," and Biagio Goro Ghezzi's "Madonna and Child With Saints Catherine and John the Baptist." These paintings were done using egg tempera and emphatically using gold leaf on wood panel. Gold, during the Italian Trecento and Early 15th Century had an important religious significance, sacred light. There was a deadly Bubonic Plague Epidemic that ravished Italy, especially in Siena and Florence in the middle of the 14th Century. Lippo Memmi and Florentine Master, Bernardo Daddi died from the Bubonic Plague.

I appreciated its Renaissance Period Paintings by Giovanni Dei Paolo, especially his copious, "Nativity" and Sassetta's "Madonna and Child with Angels" featuring very brilliant gold leaf. I also relished some fine Netherlandish paintings from the Renaissance Period produced by Hans Vereycke, "Madonna and Child With Angel, Saints Catherine and Barbara" and Jean Bellegambe's "Virgin and Child With Rosary, Saint Bernard and Cistercian Monk." Netherlandish Renaissance Paintings depicted landscapes of Flanders in the backgrounds of the paintings on many occasions. I also saw a fine Late Italian Renaissance Period painting with marvelous light effects by Ubertini, also called Bacchiacca, "Madonna and Child With Saints Elizabeth and John the Baptist."

In another room, I relished the Frick's collection of Old Master paintings from 17th and 18th Century. I saw French Baroque Period Paintings employing oil paint by Lenain, "Blessing" Jean Pater, "Rest in Park," Nicolas Lancret, "Young Lovers in Landscape," Jean Nattier, "Queen of France," and Jean Boucher, "Peasant Boy Fishing," among others. In that room, I also saw excellent paintings by Dutch Master, Jan Steen, "Music Lesson" and Flemish Masters, Peter Paul Rubens, "Princess of Conde" and Jan Van Os, "Stillife With Fruit."

The Frick has a fine group of Flemish Tapestries from the 17th Century. I especially liked "The Musicians." I also saw fine glass creations by Contemporary Pittsburgh Artist, Vanessa German which are temporarily on display.

Admission to the Pittsburgh Frick Art Museum is free, but donations help this art museum maintain its high standards. The Frick helps make Mister Rogers' Point Breeze-Squirrel Hill Neighborhood very special.

Come Home To Your New Spiritual Home Temple Beth Am

By Linda Storfer

Recently a couple whom we are good friends with here at Wynmoor had a lengthy deep discussion about whether to buy or lease a new car. After much deliberation they decided to lease a brand-new Hyundai Elantra with fancy extra features. Their new car is very nice and needless to say, they are enjoying it. Upon reflecting after their decision my friend said to me “isn’t that a nice problem to have as opposed to having to decide to stay married or split up, decide which cancer treatment to undergo or whether or not to put a family member in a nursing home.” We must remember to appreciate the things that we have. Life is a very precious gift and even in these tough times all of us need every day to learn to live, laugh and love.

When I wake up every day, I appreciate the fact that my family and I are all in good health and are vaccinated, that I live in Wynmoor, lead a very busy and active life and I belong to a fantastic Conservative synagogue, Temple Beth Am in nearby Margate. In addition, I also appreciate the fact that our Board of Directors recently approved the hiring of our first woman Rabbi, Rabbi Michelle Goldsmith. Our congregation is very excited about Rabbi Goldsmith’s arrival and we can’t wait to open our doors and welcome her at the end of this month. Rabbi Goldsmith is an energetic, vibrant spiritual leader with many years of professional experience as a pulpit Rabbi who has led congregations in Birmingham, Jacksonville and is currently in Virginia. Our new Rabbi has worked with people of all ages from early childhood through senior adults. During the past 16 months she worked with her congregation to adapt the synagogue to the reality of COVID-19 and led weekly services on Zoom and streamlined services in order to reach as many people as possible. Prior to the pandemic she organized and led a congregational trip to Israel which was packed with highlights of the Holy Land and visits to special places of interest catering to all age groups. One of her passions is adult education and she hopes to bring a full range of new classes to TBA beginning immediately after the conclusion of the High Holidays in October. Remember, you’re never too young or old to learn. Learning is soul food for the brain.

There is a great air of excitement at Temple Beth Am these days awaiting the arrival of our new senior Rabbi, Rabbi Michelle Goldsmith. On Friday, June 25th we will have a special challah drive through to welcome her from 11:00 a.m. - 12:00 noon. She will be on hand to meet and greet everyone who drives to the shul with her contagious smile and charismatic personality. Additionally, our leadership has planned a weekend of events to welcome Rabbi Goldsmith. Be there and don’t be square. For more information about this weekend and other upcoming programs please check out our website www.beth-am.org or call the TBA office for further details.

Revocable Living Trust Important For Out of State Property!

By Martin Zevin, Attorney

Many of my snowbird clients own a home in Florida and another state. Some of them have their homestead in Florida; others declare their legal residence in another state.

In either case, a Revocable Living Trust is very useful to avoid probate in both states. If you are a Florida resident, you can own your homestead property via a Revocable Living Trust without losing your homestead exemption. In addition, you are eliminating the need for probate when you pass away. You can also transfer real estate owned in any other state to your Florida Trust. Generally, a Florida lawyer will prepare the Revocable Living Trust and Quit Claim Deed to transfer the Florida property into the Trust. If you are a Florida resident, the lawyer will also prepare a new Florida Last Will and Testament called a Pourover Will. This provides for the transfer to your Trust upon your death of any other assets not in the Trust or which do not have beneficiaries already designated. It is a security blanket to cover any assets payable to your Estate. For example, if you were killed in a car accident due to the negligence of another driver, your Personal Representative would be able to settle your Estate's claim and "pourover" the proceeds into your Trust.

If you are not a Florida resident, you can still create a Revocable Living Trust and execute a Quit Claim Deed to put your Florida property into the Trust. Your Last Will and Testament will be done by a lawyer in the state in which you have your legal residence. In addition, that lawyer can prepare a Deed to transfer the out of state property into the Florida Trust. You can also do the Trust in the other state and transfer your Florida property to that Trust.

For Canadian citizens, there are possible tax aspects to be considered before you create a Florida Trust. These should be discussed with your Canadian accountant or tax attorney. In general, you will have to weigh the tax consequences versus the money and time that your heirs would save by avoiding probate in Florida.

Another favorable factor in creating a Revocable Living Trust is that you can always amend the Trust without having to change the Deed. In addition, once you create the Trust, you can always buy new properties in any state in the name of the Trust.

The Revocable Living Trust is recommended by most lawyers over a Deed which includes names of other persons, either as joint tenants, tenants in common or a Life Estate Deed. Once another person's name is on a Deed, there are potential risks to you and your property. These include the possibility that the other person may undergo a divorce, bankruptcy, have a judgment against that person, or die before you or with you in a common accident. It may also affect your homestead exemption. All of these risks should be discussed with your attorney before deciding to put someone else's name on your Deed. By contrast, the Revocable Living Trust eliminates those risks, since no other name is on the Deed. You simply transfer it from yourself to yourself as Trustee of your Trust.

This article covers only some basics regarding Revocable Living Trusts and Deeds. For further information, please feel free to contact me. During this time of "social distancing," I have been consulting with clients via phone, e-mail and regular mail. In the past, my free initial consultation would normally be a personal meeting. In addition to Wills, Trusts and Estates, I also provide free consultations regarding any issue pertaining to personal injury claims and car insurance coverage. Call me at 954-569-4878. HISTORY CORNER

By Philip Edwards

Belle Starr: The Bandit Queen

Belle was born Myra Maybelle Shirley in 1848 and grew up in a normal southern home. She was treated to good schooling where she learned Greek, Hebrew, and Latin. For the other side of her schooling, her older brother taught her how to ride a horse and shoot guns. Though loved and cared for by her family, she preferred the wilder, dark side of life. She took to wearing two guns in holsters over her dress. She was known to be hot-headed and started fights with both females and males. Numerous times she wanted to settle those disagreements with a gun.

After the Civil War, her family moved from Missouri to Texas to start a new life. In 1866, she met Cole Younger who was a member of Jesse James' Gang. Belle eventually married Jim Reed who was also a member of the Younger gang and she provided hideouts and provisions for the gang. James Reed was killed trying to escape authorities and after his death Belle joined the Star Gang and participated in bank robberies and rustling cattle. She eventually married Sam Starr, leader of the gang, who was later killed in a gunfight.

Bill July, an adopted son of Tom Starr, took up with Belle on her ranch, and they rented out parcels of land for income. Belle discovered one of her renters was wanted for murder in Florida, and she attempted to force him off her land. He refused at first, but finally left when she threatened to go to the authorities. Days later as she rode back to her ranch from a shopping trip in town, a blast from a shotgun in her back killed her. The murderer was never brought to trial.

WYNMOOR Golf and Tips

By Kevin Battersby, PGA

Grip - Warning Sign - Danger

By far the most dangerous grip error in your lead hand is getting the club too much in your palm and not enough in your fingers which helps provide speed through your wrists at impact. A simple check of your golf glove wear pattern may warn you of this problem. If your glove tends to rip or wear too much by the heel of your hand and you have a loss of power and speed this could be your problem. In addition to lack of power you might experience a slice or worse yet, a shank. The ball flight might be higher than normal and when playing in Florida windy conditions your losing distance on your approach and driver. The attached photo illustrates this golfer's glove and wear pattern. Yes, he had a big slice and no roll on his longer shots because of the left to right spin on the ball. The X on the glove should go more on the middle of the grip when getting the club more in your fingers. This new finger and hand grip provide for more wrist hinging and makes your release before impact sooner producing a nice draw. Take note of how much of the heel pad is on top of the grip in my left hand. From the top view you should see 2 to 2.5 knuckles on your left hand (right handed golfers) and the V between your forefinger and thumb points toward your right shoulder. A finger and hand grip in your lead hand will help create more crisp and powerful shots.

We have had an amazing 2020-2021 season! There was a wonderful response to our online Zoom meetings. We've had interesting and informative presentations throughout the season. Most exciting has been the wide variety of photos submitted by the membership and the obvious improvement over time in the quality of the work.

We are taking a hiatus until the beginning of our next season in November. As usual, our meetings will take place on the 2nd and 4th Tuesdays of the month.

The Camera Club of Wynmoor welcomes all Wynmoor residents to join regardless of your skill level or type of camera. Photography is unique in that if you have a camera (smartphones work!) and a computer, no additional equipment is necessary, and our world is our workspace.

Question: "How will I be covered for an emergency by my Medicare Advantage or Supplement Plan if I am out of State?"

Answer: If you have a Medicare Supplement Plan, you are covered the exact same way as your plan covers you here in South Florida. Regarding Prescription Drug Plans, there are "In Network" versus "Out of Network" Pharmacies and you may have higher co-pays if you go to an Out of Network Pharmacy. Many national Pharmacies such as Walgreens or CVS would offer In Network pricing for your prescription drug copays. If you run out of medications while you are away, your doctor may need to send a prescription to the pharmacy at your location and would need the pharmacy's address and/or store #. It is always a good idea to plan ahead and make sure you have enough medications to cover you through your trip.

If you have a Medicare Advantage Plan either HMO or PPO, you will be covered for emergencies nationwide as "In Network." Depending on the plan you have will determine what your copays will be. Here are some examples:

HMO – will cover you exactly how you are covered in South Florida, however, you are required to return home for any post follow up treatment and appointments to aid in your recovery. To further clarify, you will not be covered for any out of network appointments post an emergency or hospital stay. "In Network" is the "Service Area" of your HMO Plan. For many HMO Plans in our area, this usually includes your County of Residence, or depending on the Carrier, will include all of South Florida Dade, Broward and Palm Beach Counties. Most of the HMO plans in Broward County have a zero co-pay and no deductible for an inpatient hospital stay. If you have an emergency room visit, copays tend to range from $80 to $120. If you are moved from "observation" to inpatient, many plans will waive the emergency room fee.

PPO – will cover you exactly how you are covered in South Florida, however PPO plans provide "Out of Network" benefits for a higher co-pay. On PPO plans you can continue your recovery outside the state of Florida, but keep in mind that providers that are recommended by the hospital or emergency room may be Out of Network. To save money and find In Network providers you can, 1) Visit the Provider Search Tool online with your Insurance Carrier, 2) Call your Insurance Agent for assistance or 3) Call Customer Service (# listed on the back of your card) for assistance. Many PPO plans in South Florida do not have a deductible, and inpatient hospital stay ranges from $250 to $300 per day for several days ranging from 4 to 9 days. For more detailed explanation of benefits on your plan, please call your licensed insurance agent or customer service.

Keep in mind that these are examples only. To find the exact copay for your plan, refer to your Summary of Benefits. My best advice is to:

- 1) Find out what your benefits are in case of an emergency and prepare before heading out of town.
- 2) Bring a list of all of your physician's telephone #'s with you.
- 3) Bring enough medication supplies including future refills with you.
- 4) Bring your insurance agent's telephone # with you.

I hope this article can provide you with some guidance on obtaining access to care and understanding your benefits in case of an out of town medical emergency.

I hope everyone enjoys their summer and you get to spend time with your family and friends. When you return in early fall, we will be entering the Annual Election Period which starts October 15th through December 7th. That will be an Open Enrollment period, if you were interested in evaluating your benefits and consider making a change. All applications during that time will have an effective date of January 1, 2022.

When in doubt, ask The Medicare Lady™.

POETS and POETRY

One Person's Ideas on Poetry

By Neil Nathan

*A poem that doesn't rhyme
Is like nine cents to the dime,
A clock that doesn't tell the time,
A grandfather clock that doesn't chime,
Marcel Marceau without his mime,
Gin & Tonic without the lime,
A criminal without the crime,
A stagnant pond without the slime,
A mountaineer with no mountain to climb,
Not going from the ridiculous to the sublime,
A coal miner's face without the grime,
And an athlete who is not in their prime.*

*I'm sure you'll agree, there's no denying
It's like tears without the crying,
Going shopping without the buying,
Sitting in a plane without it flying,
Interviewing people without finally hiring,
Rock and Roll without the jiving,
Telling the truth without thinking of lying,
Asking questions without even prying,
Do-it-yourself and on no-one else relying,
Taking poetic liberties without even trying.*

Untitled

By Neil Nathan

*O acorn thy anagram is virus,
Writ large as if on ancient papyrus.
People waiting for vaccine with baited breath,
In the hope of staving off premature death.
One human trait is panic – it's endemic,
When combined – it's a pandemic.
We've had lockdowns, shut-ins & masks,
Curbside, deliveries, self-imposed tasks.
Once it was a beer quaffed globally,
Now it's disdained, it's market wobbly.
I could go on for yet more time
But it would be like going from the ridiculous to the sublime.
So now I'll take my leave
And hope that no-one do you bereave.*

In Memory Of... Sid Feldman

By Andrea Joy Frankel-Bellitto

Sid Feldman! This was a man who was not only a fine family man and a great friend, he was one of the smartest men I knew, along with Alan Bernstein whom I know Sid also admired! He was also my mentor! He was always committed and dedicated to his community, serving as a leader here and Pennsylvania. In PA he served as Legislative Aid to the Senator, he was very active in the Republican Party and was a speaker to many organizations. He was honored to present graduates with their certificates. When he moved to Wynmoor he became active in our community. He was Assistant Director in his building in Eleuthera Point. He co-founded the Republican Club here in Wynmoor and became President. Molding the way for the club to grow, among other things like The Moose Lodge!

I was President of the club for 3 years and I always looked to Sid for advice and sometimes courage (lol). He and his wonderful wife Elaine have encouraged me and supported me from the get-go! He ALWAYS had the answer if I did not and he always had my back! We as a community lost a great resident, friend, family member and for me a father figure that never let me down. He will be missed!

Today I learned that if a canoe turns upside down in the water, you can safely wear it on your head. Because it's cap-sized.

My girlfriend says if we don't get married soon, she's gonna kill me. It's a matter of wife or death.

As I suspected, someone has been adding soil to my garden. The plot thickens.

How Acupuncture Helps to Strengthen Our Immune System

By Marcus Smith, Licensed Acupuncture Physician

We certainly don't need a pandemic to start thinking about how to have a stronger immune system but being in the middle of one definitely gives the idea a little more urgency. Pandemics are temporary. The tools to create a strong, robust immune system will benefit us for life.

In acupuncture terms, diseases like Covid-19, or any viral or bacterial ailment for that matter, is considered to be an external pathogen, or "evil Qi" as the ancient textbooks called it. To combat this evil Qi, humans have "defensive Qi" which is analogous to the immune system. The ancient doctors found long ago that the quality of the food, drink, and air that we take into our bodies have a profound effect on our defensive Qi. That is why your acupuncturist may discuss your diet in great detail with you and recommend changes or the addition of specific herbal combinations to help strengthen the body's defenses.

The meridian system that forms the basis of acupuncture, in which channels of energy flow through the body and affect various organs and bodily functions, is also used to optimize our defensive Qi. Even without the help of dietary changes and herbs, acupuncture can do a lot for the immune system. There is an acupuncture point near the lateral end of the elbow crease, for example, that has been clinically shown to increase T-lymphocyte production immediately upon stimulation of the point. T-lymphocytes are a type of white blood cell that kills cancer cells, cells that are infected (particularly with viruses), or cells that are damaged in other ways.

Other acupuncture points are utilized to reduce chronic inflammation throughout our body which can weaken our immune system over time and give rise to countless autoimmune and degenerative diseases.

Acupuncture is only one of many strategies available to us to strengthen our immune systems to meet the health challenges confronting us all in these challenging days. Time spent researching and reading about the many ways we can take control of our own health is never time wasted.

DID YOU KNOW...

By Iris Arlan

There is a Jewish Congregation right across the street from the Wynmoor Main Gate? And, more, the dues are only $100/year per person. We are a small Congregation with big hearts and ideas. We need YOU to support US.

Our Rabbi is Paul Offenkrantz. Look him up on Facebook. Tune in to one of his Services Fridays at 7:00 p.m., on Facebook Live Videos. We think you will be impressed. Starting on July 30th, we will be back in our Sanctuary at Calvary Presbyterian Church, 3850 Coconut Creek Parkway. For more information, and a schedule of Services and times, contact our President, Iris Arlan, at 954-532-5268 (Legalsong@aol.com). If you have questions about our Reform practice and Ritual, contact Ritual Chair, Lee Temares at 954-968-4236 (Tembooks@aol.com).

We are proud to be known as "The Temple with a Heart," or formally, as The Liberal Jewish Temple of Coconut Creek. Pre Covid, and hopefully, soon again, we will go back to a more normal full schedule of activities. If you have a particular interest in an area of Jewish learning—from Bible to cooking, we can most likely create a class for you. If you are looking for social connections, we can help with that, too. (We have even done matchmaking!)

Rosh Hashanah this year begins the evening of September 6th (Labor Day). We can supply (limited to Covid Regulations) tickets for you and your friends and family for the High Holidays. Contact Iris Arlan (info above) for further information and availability.

If you would like to be added to our weekly mailing list, please e-mail Iris at the e-mails above. If we have your e-mail address, we will let you know when our new and updated web site is up and running.

It would be fair to ask us what we were doing during our Covid lockdown. Well, for starters, we instituted a weekly e-mail newsletter, containing a President's message, comments on the weekly Torah portion, a mishebeirach list, yahrzeits, birthdays, anniversaries and much more. There have been regular Friday night and Holiday Services on Facebook. We have held Zoom meetings. Yom Kippur Break-the-fast and Passover dinners were delivered to members. Purim goodies showed up on members' doorknobs. We actively cared for our members in need in any way we could. Just think of what we could do together when we can function more normally!!

Membership letters will be delivered to people on our mailing lists in mid-June, along with High Holiday information and Schedules of Sabbath and High Holiday Services. We hope YOU will be joining US because "U ARE PART OF US."

Freedom From Bladder Problems

Hi!!! My name is Evette Weiss, I use to wake up 2 or 3 times a night to go to the bathroom. After treatments from Dr. Herman, I now sleep 7 or 8 hours per night without waking up to go to the bathroom. I had been leaking urine when I laughed, coughed or sneezed, but I no longer suffer from this problem. My goal is to help other men and women who may suffer from this embarrassing situation.

Dr. Craig Herman of the Urology Center of Florida can help you recapture your quality of life with NO PAIN, MEDICATION or SURGERY. His Imagine Therapy will help you regain the freedom to live your life the way you want to live it. Treatments are covered by most medical insurances and courtesy transportation is usually available.

Please call me, EVETTE at 561-364-8659 or on my cell phone 954-734-3449 if you would like to discuss or get additional information. Just Imagine, Freedom from Bladder Problems.
