By Insider Staff

On November 3, Broward County voters will be asked to decide whether to approve a quarter-percent (.25%) sales surtax to help provide residents with access to preventive heart and cancer screenings and other health care services.

The proposal brings attention to an important health issue: serious medical conditions can sometimes develop without obvious symptoms, and early detection may provide an opportunity for treatment before a medical emergency occurs.

We have all heard the saying that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. When it comes to heart disease and cancer, however, prevention and early detection can mean much more than saving money. In some circumstances, they can help save a life.

When There Are No Warning Signs

A person can feel perfectly healthy while plaque is building inside the arteries supplying the heart. Some cancers can also develop without producing obvious symptoms. By the time warning signs appear, treatment may be more difficult.

Modern medicine provides testing that can sometimes identify problems before a patient knows something is wrong. However, some advanced preventive tests are not routinely covered by insurance for people who have no symptoms or other qualifying medical indications. Out-of-pocket costs can make such testing difficult for many residents to afford.

What Broward Has Already Seen

Beginning in 2023, Broward County launched a preventive heart-screening pilot program offering cardiac testing to qualified residents who generally had no symptoms of heart disease.

More than 7,000 residents participated. According to information provided about the program, more than 4,000 had abnormal findings indicating a need for medical attention. Some needed medication, while others required procedures including stents or open-heart surgery. Approximately 350 participants also learned of non-cardiac medical issues discovered as a result of their scans.

The significance of those numbers is easy to understand. Many of the people being screened apparently had no reason to believe that a serious medical problem was developing.

Residents of Wynmoor have also participated in these screenings, with previously unknown conditions discovered in some participants. Finding such a condition can give a patient and physician the opportunity to determine what additional testing or treatment may be appropriate.

What Is on the November 3 Ballot?

The proposal on the November 3 ballot would establish a .25% sales surtax for five years.

The proceeds would help fund preventive heart and cancer tests, to the extent they are not covered by insurance, for Broward County residents. The measure would also support primary and preventive health care for indigent and medically poor residents and other health services included in the County's health care plan.

Many necessities that are not subject to Florida's general sales tax would therefore not be subject to the surtax. This is an important part of the proposal for voters to understand when considering its potential effect on household expenses.

Why Early Detection Matters

The experience with preventive heart screening illustrates why early detection receives so much attention.

Someone may be going about everyday life with no chest pain, shortness of breath or other obvious warning signs while an artery is becoming dangerously narrowed. When that condition is discovered through screening, a physician can evaluate it and determine what steps should be taken.

Cancer screening works on a similar principle. Finding certain cancers at an earlier stage may provide more treatment options than discovering them after the disease has progressed.

Screening does not guarantee that every disease will be found, and an abnormal result does not necessarily mean that a serious illness is present. Medical testing and the appropriate follow-up should always be discussed with a health care professional.

But for people whose scans uncover a serious condition they never knew existed, early detection can make an enormous difference.

A Decision for Broward Voters

As with any proposed tax or government program, there are questions voters may want to consider: How will the money be spent? How will the program be administered? Who will qualify for the screenings? What oversight will be provided? And do the potential benefits justify the additional sales tax?

The proposed surtax is limited to five years, and its stated purpose includes expanding access to preventive heart and cancer screening and other health care services.

Broward's experience with preventive cardiac screening has also demonstrated something separate from the ballot question itself: people can have significant medical conditions without knowing they are there.

A blocked artery discovered before a heart attack provides an opportunity for medical intervention. Cancer discovered at an earlier stage may provide additional treatment options. That is the promise—and the importance—of preventive screening.

On November 3, Broward County voters will decide whether the proposed .25% sales surtax is the way they want to help fund greater access to those services.

The decision belongs to the voters.

The importance of knowing what may be happening inside our bodies before symptoms appear belongs to all of us.

2027 Budget

We successfully completed our 2027 budget process, an important milestone in maintaining Wynmoor's financial strength and preparing for the future. On behalf of the entire Management Committee, I extended my sincere appreciation and congratulations to our Administrator, Bruce Bandler; Assistant Administrator, Keith Arnold; Council Treasurer, Fred Stein; and all of our dedicated Department Heads. Their professionalism, careful planning, attention to detail, and unwavering commitment to fiscal responsibility resulted in a balanced and forward-looking budget.

This financial plan addressed the community's operational needs while positioning Wynmoor for continued improvements and long-term success, helping to ensure that our community remains a wonderful place to live for years to come. At the conclusion of the budget process, the Wynmoor Community Council Board of Directors formally approved the 2027 budget.

Small groups of Association Presidents and Council Representatives came together with Wynmoor Community Council for engaging and productive conversations focused on strengthening communication, collaboration, and our shared vision for the future of Wynmoor.

These gatherings provided a valuable opportunity to reflect on our accomplishments, exchange ideas, discuss opportunities and challenges, and share perspectives about the future of our community.

One of the greatest achievements was the renewed sense of partnership that came from sitting together, listening to one another, and recognizing how much can be accomplished when our associations, volunteers, and Council work toward common goals. The discussions reinforced our shared commitment to ensuring that every voice is heard and valued.

We sincerely thank all of the Association Presidents, Council Representatives, and volunteers who participated and contributed to these meaningful conversations. Your involvement, experience, and dedication continue to play an important role in Wynmoor's success.

Looking Ahead: Amendment 3 and Your Property Taxes

As we approach the November 2026 General Election, Florida voters will be asked to consider Amendment 3, a proposed constitutional amendment that could significantly change property taxes for homeowners throughout the state and have broader financial implications for our local communities.

If approved by at least 60% of voters, Amendment 3 would substantially increase the homestead exemption for certain property taxes. For qualifying homesteaded properties, the exemption would increase to $150,000 in 2027 and $250,000 in 2028, with future increases tied to inflation. The amendment would also reduce the annual cap for increases on certain non-homestead properties from 10% to 5%. The expanded homestead exemption would not apply to school property taxes, meaning school district taxes would not receive the same exemption.

At first glance, a larger homestead exemption and the possibility of a lower property tax bill may sound like welcome news. For many homeowners, the immediate reaction may understandably be: "How much will this save me?" However, as the old saying goes, sometimes things that sound too good to be true deserve a closer look—and this is an issue where looking at the entire picture is especially important.

Property taxes are an important source of revenue for local governments and help fund many of the services residents rely upon every day. When a significant portion of property value becomes exempt from taxation, counties and municipalities may collect less revenue from those properties. But the responsibility to provide essential services does not simply disappear because less property value may be subject to taxation.

Local governments must still provide essential services, such as police and fire protection, maintain infrastructure, address public safety needs, and meet other financial obligations. As a result, the financial impact may ultimately be felt in other ways—through changes in tax rates to fund those basic services and programs, adjustments in spending, or other sources of revenue that local governments may pursue.

That is why the potential impact of Amendment 3 should not be viewed only through the lens of an individual property-tax bill. There is a much larger financial picture to consider.

For any community, it is important to look beyond the immediate question of "How much could I save on my property taxes?" and also ask "What could this mean for the services and costs that affect our community?"

Saving money on one line of a tax bill is certainly important. But it is equally important to understand whether those savings could have consequences elsewhere and how essential services will continue to be funded.

Amendment 3 may provide meaningful property-tax reduction for many homeowners, but significant changes to Florida's property-tax system can have broader consequences. A change of this magnitude deserves careful consideration—not only for what it may provide today, but for what it could mean in the years ahead.

Before casting your vote, take the time to understand both the potential savings and the potential impact on the communities in which we live.

Ask the questions. Look beyond the immediate savings. Consider where the funding for the services we depend upon will come from and what the long-term effects could be.

An informed vote means looking at the entire picture—not simply what appears on the surface.

Turnpike

The legal battle over the Florida Turnpike expansion in Coconut Creek centers on the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) and Florida's Turnpike Enterprise's plan to widen the turnpiked. The proposed project would widen the Florida Turnpike between Atlantic Boulevard and Wiles Road with some sections increasing from six to as many as ten lanes with all four lanes to be located west of the center line of the road. FDOT argues the project will improve safety, reduce congestion, support emergency evacuations, and enhance regional mobility.

The City of Coconut Creek, joined by Wynmoor Community Council and other affected residents, strongly opposes the project. The expansion would bring the highway closer to residential neighborhoods, resulting in increased traffic, noise, poorer air quality, the loss of landscaping and buffer areas, and declining property values. City officials also argue that FDOT did not adequately evaluate less intrusive alternatives or fully consider the impacts on surrounding communities during the environmental review process. As a result, Coconut Creek, Wynmoor and other affected residents filed a lawsuit in Leon County Circuit Court seeking to halt the project and require a more comprehensive review before construction moves forward.

The litigation has experienced several procedural developments. A judge dismissed an earlier version of the lawsuit without prejudice, meaning the court did not rule on the merits of the case and allowed the plaintiffs to amend and refile their claims. Coconut Creek has continued pursuing legal action, maintaining that the state's planning process violated legal requirements and failed to sufficiently protect nearby residents. A second hearing in July, proved to be disappointing with Judge Frank ruling to dismiss with prejudice, however, the City of Coconut Creek, Wynmoor and other various plaintiffs plan to appeal to the First District Court of Appeals.

The City of Coconut Creek, Wynmoor and other affected residents contend that the project places a disproportionate burden on existing residential neighborhoods without providing sufficient mitigation for its environmental, noise, traffic, and overall quality-of-life impacts.

As of mid-2026, the legal challenge remains ongoing, with the City and community organizations continuing to oppose the expansion while FDOT advances the project's planning and design phases. We will keep the community informed as the case progresses and provide updates as new developments become available.

October is a popular month for our seasonal residents to make their journey back to their Wynmoor home, please travel safely.

Come join us on Friday, October 30th, and dance the night away at the Costume Dance Party. Come and dress to impress. Remember to please register for this event at the Wynmoor Recreational office.

The Word Is Still Part of Life After Age 60

There have been many articles recently about the state of mind of those of us over the age of 60. That somehow talking about, and having sex is something that we do very much? I want to add to the recent plethora of articles on the positive aspect of seniors having sex. It seems ridiculous that anyone would think that just because a person has reached a certain age, they give up certain pleasures of our human life. Well, sex is one of the pleasures of life and anyone that gives it up in my mind is crazy. Many researchers have found that sex has a really positive effect on quality of life. It promotes feelings of contentment, calmness, and enjoyment while you are sharing physical emotions with someone that you feel compatible with.

Sex is any intimacy that someone shares with another. This can be almost the simplest caress to what can simply be stated as making it in bed. We know that there are physical situations that come into play. One of them certainly can be the way we think we look when we are undressed. How many of us can boast that we look like the skinny, gorgeous bodies that we see in magazines, etc.? I'm sure not many, but why should we have to compare ourselves that way. We are what we are, and the people that are attracted to us are what they are. If you are just going to be attracted to the physicality of the other person then you are going to miss out on a lot of great fun, warmth and enjoyment.

Sometimes you can be "turned on" by something very unintended but sensuous. Just imagine someone kissing the nape of your neck, for example... that could do it. You could be watching someone you care about as they cook you breakfast, believe me that is a turn on, especially if they are going to serve you later in bed. Everyone has some little idiosyncrasy that might be considered by another as that little thing that they love about that person. What makes you think romantically about the person that you consider your significant other is purely your own individual psychology. What little things make you excited, how you react to certain kinds of actions by your partner, these are the things that put you in the mood for romance. Maybe it's a little like food. Think of some of the foods you really love to eat that you can just picture eating and you will salivate and maybe just go out and shop for them or cook them immediately.

Now the medical profession has made available to men many products that they can use to enhance their physicality. So, we know that as far as the male experience is concerned, they can enjoy it all. For women it is definitely a little more of a shortfall since there are no therapies for women aside from hormones. Because women's sexual needs seem to be more emotional, however, the things that come into play are mood, actions, environment, etc. Whereas just "doing it" is probably all it takes for most men, women need the gift to be wrapped and time to enjoy the unwrapping before seeing the gift to enjoy it. In other words, "romancing the stone" is where it's at.

There is another aspect to how some people react to sex. We all know or have heard that the idea of "giving themselves to someone else," cannot be if they don't love that person. This is an individual feeling many share. There is no right or wrong in this department. Who can judge another's feelings about what is important to them. If you can put aside the feeling of needing permanence in order to have a physically meaningful affair, then you could enjoy some of the really great benefits that come from intimacy.

We also have to consider that there are those who sleep around. These people may not have thought about the fact that there are serious medical problems that abound with the senior community and how many do not take proper care. It would never be the wrong thing for you or your partner to go to a physician to make sure you do not have anything you might transmit to someone else. It just shows respect for the person that you are going to be with.

If you have a willing partner, think of all the positive things that you share with them, and the added closeness that intimacy can bring to your relationship. Those experiences are worth a lot in the scheme of things and will make you feel good, too. More to come next month.

Journaling to Relieve Stress

By Manohara Ferretti, MDiv, Stress Relief Specialist

When you experience stress due to unresolved emotions or a problem you need to solve and cannot seem to find a way to lower your anxiety, you can try journaling. Recording your experiences and feelings in a journal can help you sort out your thoughts, manage your emotions, and maintain your mental health. In addition to positive behaviors like exercising, eating healthy, meditating, getting enough sleep, and avoiding drugs and alcohol, journaling may be just the tool to help you maintain a peaceful state of mind.

Health benefits of Journaling

As you write, you may notice that it helps reduce your depression, stress, and anxiety. It does this by:

- Helping you gain clarity and facing your problems and fears. Journaling can help you redirect and refocus your thoughts.
- Empowering you. You may begin to see your problems through a new perspective and feel more in control.
- Helping you track daily symptoms that may be triggered by something specific you were not aware of.
- Helping you identify negative self-talk and behaviors. Once you write them down, it's easier to let them go.
- Improving your physical health. Daily writing has been shown to help those with chronic conditions such as asthma and arthritis.

Tips for Journaling

Unless you're already a regular journal keeper, you may feel shy to start journaling and wonder how, when, or what to write about. Get started with these tips:

- Don't worry about what to write. Just write what you want. Write freely about events and people that affect your everyday life. Remember, no one is going to see your writing. This is for you.
- Write consistently. This means you set aside a time every day or every week when you'll journal. The more you do it, the more it becomes a habit.
- Journaling doesn't have to happen in a particular way or on a specific medium. You don't need a special notebook to gain the benefits of it: any notebook or pad works. Do you like using your computer? You can start keeping a journal there, or keep a journal at your bedside, in your car or wherever you feel comfortable.
- Your journal belongs to you alone. That means you can write what and how you want. You do not have to share it unless you want to share. As you write regularly, you'll find you begin to understand yourself better and stress becomes more manageable.

Types of journaling

Your journal can be about your day, a series of letters to yourself, an issue you are tackling, old memories you would like to sort through, a health goal, or when traveling. A daily gratitude journal where you outline the things you're grateful for in your life creates a positive perspective and uncovers meaningful insights. You can also keep a bullet journal that uses lists which helps you set goals and move toward priorities.

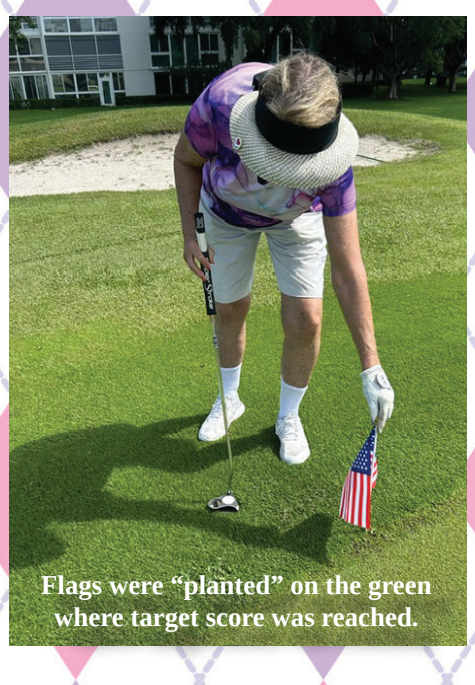

When life feels crazy and stressful and you need an extra boost, journaling can help you refocus and de-stress. Journaling doesn't have to be difficult or time-consuming. Just spending 10 -15 minutes writing an entry will help you refocus and bring calm to whatever is concerning you. Whether you keep a journal in a special notebook, on your computer or on memo pad next to your bed, the act of writing down what you're thinking and feeling can improve you how you feel mentally and physically. Start a journal today!

Flags were “planted” on the green where target score was reached.

WLGA

By Linda Sue Lewis-Moors

Last month, WLGA (Wynmoor Ladies Golf Association) members enjoyed a fun tournament designed to commemorate Labor Day. Each player received a small American flag and played either nine holes or 18 holes. Individuals kept track of their scores as usual. Each was assigned a score consisting of her handicap plus par. When each golfer reached that score, she was to “plant” her flag on the green of that hole. The object was to play every hole before having to plant one’s flag. It was an enjoyable way to pay tribute to workers across the country.

WLGA members prepare to participate in “Plant Your Flag” tournament.

Are You Living With, Or Worried About Someone Suffering With Chronic Back Pain?

By Leading Back Pain Expert, Todd James

Do you, or someone you love, suffer with back pain? Does the pain get worse when you stand or walk? Do you experience pain, numbness or tingling into your butt or down your leg? Do you have pain when you sit for long periods or drive? Are you afraid your pain will get worse if you don't do anything about it? Has the pain gotten so bad, that you avoid many activities that you used to enjoy?

If you are 55+ and answered YES to any of these questions, then please read on because I have some special information about relief of your back pain.

It's a shame so many people think their options for dealing with back pain are rest, pain killers, or maybe worse, injections or even surgery. Often these solutions are only temporary, because they don't address the true cause of your back pain, but just mask the symptoms. Others believe there is nothing that can be done, and they will just have to suffer through the pain.

If you or someone you love is experiencing back pain and are wondering if you are doing the right things for your back, I would like to offer a free guide I have created to answer those questions. In this guide, Erasing Back Pain: How to Avoid the 9 Most Painful Mistakes and What You Should Be Doing Instead, you will find information about what will not help ease your back pain and how to make the right choices to get you out of back pain and on the road to enjoying an active, healthy lifestyle again.

I'm Todd James, Physical Therapist and I have been helping 1000s of people 55+ over the last 2 decades find quick, natural, long lasting relief from back pain. I've put together this guide because in easing your back pain it's not just about doing the right things, but also about avoiding the wrong things. When you choose the right path, your recovery from back pain will be much more effective.

If you are currently held back from getting a good night's sleep, being able to walk with friends, getting out on the golf course, or playing with the grand-kids, I invite you to visit www.coconutcreektherapy.com/backpain to claim your free guide. If you prefer, give us a call at 954-972-1200 and we'll be happy to assist you.

Don't let back pain take the joy out of your life. Get started on your path to a pain free active life!

book review

By Beatrice Horowitz

North Woods

Daniel Mason

I'd better say right away that I loved this book, and I also don't think it's for everyone. If you like everything to make sense, if you don't like getting confused at times about how plot lines are connected, this book is not for you. So why did it grab me? It takes place in western Massachusetts, mostly, where I lived for four years. It involves the history of a property in the Berkshire mountains, beginning very early in the eighteenth century and up to future times. It interweaves the stories of people, trees, and wildlife (from insects to panthers.) The author touches on issues of the different eras, from Puritanism to Indian wars to revolution, from early white agriculture to gilded age country retreats to nineteenth century spiritualism, early twentieth century mental health treatment, etc. People fall in and out of love, encounter traces of their predecessors without really recognizing them as such, manipulate each other and on occasion commit murder. Sometimes the author made me laugh out loud. That's my best description: take on this book if anything I've said intrigues you.

Death at the Sign of the Rook

Kate Atkinson

I think it's possible to read too much of a writer; someone that thrilled you for years starts becoming a bit predictable. I hate it when that happens. This book might be a case of that for me, but if you haven't been an ardent fan of this author before, you'll find much to please you in these pages. This is a Jackson Brodie story, taking place near Leeds in northern England, drawing on the British tradition of murder mystery established by Christie, Sayers, et al. Jackson is a charmer, and various women from his previous plot lines tumble in and out of the story. Manor house gone to seed, vicars, and English village politics amuse us while the titular murder waits in the wings. I am going to continue reading every book Ms. Atkinson publishes, because I'm that kind of fan. Mr. Brodie is a pleasing character to return to as he ages, but I hope the author will someday write another book like Life After Life or A God in Ruins. I'll be there, reading glasses in place.

Books and doors are the same thing. You open them, and you go through into another world.

This Dream Was a Joke

By Peter Hardis

Two weeks ago I had this very strange dream, and I would like to share it with you.

My dream began when I went to McDonald's for lunch. I took my tray into the dining area where I saw Stever who was an acquaintance of mine. Steve waved me over to join him at his booth. I said to him, "Hi Steve how are you?" He replied, "Pete, I'm a mess." Then he began to start telling me some of his problems.

"I can't tell you how much I hate my mother-in-law, but to please my wife I try my best to be nice to her. So, the other day I told my mother-in-law, 'I want you to know that our house is your house,' she angrily replied, "In that case I want you to get off my property immediately!"

"The only reason I didn't stay long enough to kill her was because I was already late for my doctor's appointment."

Then Steve asked me if I knew of a good doctor that I could recommend to him. He said, "I am asking you because I'm fed-up with my doctor. He is definitely a quack! I went to him the other day because my leg was really hurting me. I asked him what I could do about it. My brilliant doctor told me that the smartest thing I can do about it would be for me to limp."

Then my doctor told me, "I have very good news for you. From my very thorough exam I determined that you will live to be 70." I told him that I am already 70! He said, "See, what did I tell you?" Then he grabbed me by my wallet and said, "cough!"

The next thing I knew I was on the subway sitting next to this man who starts talking to me. He said, "I have so many problems. My problems all started way back on the very day I was born. When I was born the doctor thought I was so ugly he slapped my mother and then he hung himself with the umbilical cord.

Then when I was just a baby my mother couldn't stand looking at me because of how ugly I was that she would diaper my face, and breast feed me through a straw while wearing a blindfold."

"When I got old enough to start eating solid foods, she would stand all the way on the other side of the room and feed me with a slingshot while she was still wearing the blindfold."

"My problems continued throughout my life. For example, the other day when I was leaving the house my wife asked me where I was going. I told her, because of you I'm seeing a psychiatrist. She then told me, because of you I'm seeing a psychiatrist, two plumbers, and a bartender!"

"That day when I went to my psychiatrist, I told him that I think I'm a dog. He said to me, "In that case I want you to get off my couch." "Then I explained to him that everyone hates me." He said to me, "Don't be silly, everyone hasn't met you yet."

In my dream, when I got off the train, I found myself sitting on a bench in Central Park. All of a sudden, a woman sits down next to me and just like the other two people in my dream, she also began to talk to me. She began saying "It never pays to do housework because you clean and clean, and clean but before you know it a whole year goes by and you have to start all over again." Then out of nowhere she tells me "I have such flabby ugly thighs. The only thing that svaes me is that my breasts cover them."

Then she starts to brag to me, "Around this part of town I'm thought of as being a sex symbol by those men who don't give a damn." "Maybe I shouldn't be telling you this, but I have so many days when I have such terrible diarrhea my toilet makes me apologize to it." Then she tells me, "I had two interesting boyfriends. The first was a transvestite who my mother urged me to marry telling me that I should instantly double my wardrobe. The only reason I didn't marry him was because I didn't like his taste in clothes.

"After the transvestite I started dating a proctologist. Whenever we went out for drinks, he would always say, "Bottoms up!" I didn't marry him because his last name was 'Assman.' I wouldn't have been comfortable being known as Ashley Aspen Assman.

The last thing I remember that happened in my dream was my wife and I were in bed making love. All of a sudden, I heard her moaning, "BEIGE, that's right, I'm going to paint the ceiling beige!"

I very rarely remember the dreams I have but when I woke up, I realized that I wet my pajamas from laughing so hard during my dream. Whenever I look at those pajamas I'm reminded of that dream, and I start laughing all over again because this dream was a joke!

ACUPUNCTURE

How Acupuncture Became Accepted by Modern Western Medicine

By Marcus Smith, Licensed Acupuncture Physician

In 1971, an article appeared in the New York Times by James Reston, a member of the US Press Corp. Mr. Reston had been in Peking (now Beijing) helping to prepare for President Nixon's historic visit to China when he began to have severe abdominal pain. He was examined by local doctors, diagnosed with acute appendicitis, admitted to a hospital and scheduled for surgery. He reported that the surgery went well and without complications but on the second day after surgery he was having very uncomfortable stomach pain and bloating. Here is his own account of what happened next:

"Li Chang yuan, doctor of acupuncture at the hospital, with my approval, inserted three long, thin needles into the outer part of my right elbow and below my knees and manipulated them in order to stimulate the intestine and relieve the pressure and distension of the stomach... Meanwhile, Doctor Li lit two pieces of an herb called ai, which looked like the burning stumps of a broken cheap cigar, and held them close to my abdomen while occasionally twirling the needles into action. All this took about 20 minutes, during which I remember thinking that it was rather a complicated way to get rid of gas on the stomach, but there was a noticeable relaxation of the pressure and distension within an hour and no recurrence of the problem thereafter."

Now this rather short article generated considerable buzz among the Western medical community as well as a lot of scrutiny by detractors who were not fans of the Nixon administration and called the whole affair a publicity stunt. Nonetheless, the event began an exchange between China and the U.S. with China inviting American MDs to visit Chinese hospitals and not only observe first-hand, but be trained in the use of acupuncture for pain-relief.

I had the good fortune to meet one of those first doctors trained in China. He was Chief of Neurological and Spinal Surgery at the University of Texas John Sealy Medical Branch in Galveston, Texas. In my many conversations with him, he described how he had been trained to use a few acupuncture needles in the surface of the patient's outer ear to control their pain DURING surgery, which allowed the patient to remain awake and to communicate with the doctor during the procedure! He said that for him, he was willing to use whatever is necessary to minimize the inherent risk for the patient with such invasive surgery and that acupuncture used in this manner had literally transformed his practice.

It has been a long road for acupuncture's acceptance as a safe and viable addition to modern western medicine since that first article appeared. Nonetheless, it is now taught to medical students at many U.S. medical schools, including the University of California at Berkeley, Harvard Medical School and the University of Florida. It is covered by Medicare for the treatment of chronic lower back pain as well as for many other medical conditions by numerous health insurance companies. If you are suffering from chronic back pain or any other kind of joint or muscle pain, sports injuries, osteo-arthritis, post-surgical or any unexplained pain, it may be worth your while to talk to a qualified acupuncturist.

A Thought-Provoking Art Exhibit at the Perez Art Museum in Miami

By Barry Isaac

In August, on a typically hot and humid South Florida day, I spent a delightful day enjoying fine Contemporary Art at the Perez Art Museum in Miami. There was a fascinating thought-provoking art exhibit, that attracted a lot of interest from those who visited the Perez Art Museum that day, "Basquiat, Figures, Signs, and Symbols." This exhibit runs until June 2027 and features 10 iconic paintings by Jean Michel Basquiat from the Kenneth Griffin Art Collection. Jean Michel Basquiat was a prominent Contemporary Painter with a very innovative style of painting. Basquiat was an iconic figure in New York City City's LGBTO Community. According to the staff of the Perez Art Museum. Basquiat was greatly influenced by the art museums, he visited in New York City, during his childhood. Basquiat's works of Art drew from a wide range of references from World History and Renaissance Anatomical Studies to broader art historical tradition. Basquiat's paintings make reference to Haitian Voodoo and most of the works I saw featured human skulls. I found Basquiat's paintings to be depressing, but I respect his innovative style. Basquait's "Skull" and "In Italian" epitomize Basquiat's major works of Art.

From the Perez Art Museum's permanent collection, I saw marvelous works of Art by Frank Stella "Quadrant," Robert Rauschenberg "Love Hotel," splendid mixed media creation, Deborah Kass "Everybody," Teresita Fernandez "Acrylic Cubes," Glenn Ligon, Cosmo Whyte "Enigma of Arrival," this work employs shells and life vests, Eddie Arroyo "June 5, 2020," this work relates to "Black Lives Matter," Adolph Gottlieb "Altar," Jose Bedia "Since You Left, You Can't Imagine," Deborah Brown "Moonlight, Brooklyn," Evita Tezeno "Rhythm of Street Life," Eddie Arroyo "June 5, 2020, North Miami Avenue and 38th Street," and Jeffrey Kent "Black Dollars Matter," made of acrylic, shredded US Currency, and glitter with the words, Power, among others. At the Perez Art Museum, artists of Latin American and Caribbean background are very well-represented.

Binox

The finished puzzle should be filled with Xs and Os. Horizontally and vertically, there should never be a continuous run of the same symbol longer than 2. There are an equal number of Xs and Os in each row and column. All rows are unique. All columns are unique, too.

Sudoku

| | | 8 | 6 | 7 | 9 | | | |

| | | | | | 1 | | | |
| | | | | 3 | | 7 | | 4 |
| | | | | | | 5 | | |
| | 2 | | | | | | | 1 |

Use your logic to find the correct number for each square. When finished, all nine rows across, all nine columns down and all nine 8-by-8 boxes must contain all nine numbers, 1 through 9 with no repeats.

Autumn

Find and circle all of the words that are hidden in the grid. The remaining letters spell an additional item.

The Liberal Jewish Temple of Coconut Creek

A Reform Jewish Congregation Welcoming Everyone

Iris Arlan & Lee Temares

Most of Jewish communal life is centered on food. This month we are going to explore some food facts you might not know. Of course, you are familiar with a bialy. Have you ever heard of a Pletzl? It was a tasty onion topped European flat bread which has morphed into what we think of as a bialy-a fairly thin crusty roll with an indented center filled with toasted onion. Isn't it just a half bagel filled with onions? No! Bagels are boiled before baking. Bialys are only baked.

The bialy comes from Bialystok, Poland, where it was a staple in Jewish households. As Jewish immigrants came to large U.S. cities, especially New York, they started bialy bakeries. There were even bialy bakers' unions!

Today, bagels and bialys are sold in the same stores, and are often made with the same dough, though cooked differently.

Do you know what a khoresh is? If you are one of the 2% of Jews of Iranian descent, you would say that it is a vegetable and fruit stew served over rice. Ghormeh sabzi is a khoresh with fried herbs cooked with lamb or beef, kidney beans and dried limes. Sabzi is the Farsi word for greens or herbs.

Have you ever eaten gondi? Gondi are wonderful dumplings made from ground chicken or turkey, chickpea flower, chopped onions, cardamon and turmeric. They are often added to chicken soup for Shabbat dinner by Iranian Jews.

Fesenjan is another khoresh. Naturally, there is a base of fruit, to which is added ground walnuts, pomegranate molasses, and chicken or duck. And, naturally, it is served over basmati rice.

If you come from a Sephardic Jewish family, pumpkin would be part of your Rosh Hashanah meal. Why pumpkin? Pumpkin was one of the first crops from the Americas to be taken to Europe, particularly Spain. Pumpkin was hardy, easy to grow, and kept well in storage. It is hard to believe that this delicious vegetable was actually considered animal fodder, or food for only the extremely poor.

Pumpkin's color signifies happiness. As one prayed for a good New Year, they had eaten a happy color. The thick outer rind of the pumpkin invoked protection from God at the New Year.

An interesting fact-the word for squash or pumpkin in Arabic is qara, which sounds like the Hebrew verb "to rip or tear up" and "to read or call out." So, a custom developed among Sephardic Jews who are eating squash or pumpkin at Rosh Hashanah to recite a special prayer that any harsh decrees that may have been issued be "torn up" and that the speaker's merits be "read out" before the creator.

Are you feeling hungry? Now is the time to get yourself some pumpkin and try a new dish.

Now that you have gotten food for thought let us share a little about our Temple. The Liberal Jewish Temple meets twice a month at the Centura Parc Community Ballroom. # DEMOCRATIC CLUB

On Tuesday September 1st, Lauren Book, Candidate for Florida State Senate, spoke at the Wynmoor Democratic Club. What came through best was her knowledge of the political situation in Tallahassee, having spent two terms prior to this election as a State Senator, and her long history as a nationally recognized child safety advocate. As a bonus her campaign provided a delicious box lunch for everyone who had made reservations. There was an enthusiastic response to her talk with lots of questions after. She will be coming back when our Club has an "Old Time Election Rally" on Tuesday October 27th – also open to all Wynmoor residents.

Notice is hereby given that a Referendum Election shall be held on November 3, 2026, in the City of Coconut Creek, Florida, for the electors of the City to vote on five (5) ballot questions, proposed by the Coconut Creek Charter Review Board and the City Commission, relating to changes to the City's Charter.

1. Clarifying Calculation of "Days" and Confirming Commission Sets City Manager and City Attorney Salaries
Shall the Charter be amended to provide general clarification, by specifying when references to "days" means calendar days and when it means business days and clarifying that the officers the City Commission sets salaries for are the City Manager and City Attorney? Yes ☐ No ☐

2. Prohibiting Mayor or Commissioners from Serving on Homeowner or Condominium Board During Their Commission Term
Shall the general powers and duties of the Mayor and City Commission be amended to prohibit the Mayor and City Commissioners from simultaneously serving as an officer on a homeowner or condominium association board located within the City while they are serving as the Mayor or a City Commissioner? Yes ☐ No ☐

3. Authorizing City Commission to Determine During Budget Process Whether Appropriations Should be Abandoned
Shall the Charter be amended to remove the current five-year automatic lapse of unspent appropriations and instead authorize the City Commission to determine, during the annual budget process, which appropriations shall be deemed abandoned? Currently, the Charter requires abandonment of appropriations within five years, if not disbursed or encumbered, which reduces the effectiveness of long range financial planning. Yes ☐ No ☐

4. Revising Initiative, Referendum and Recall Procedures
Shall the Charter be amended to revise the initiative and repeal procedures to provide that the Land Development Code, Comprehensive Plan and related ordinances are not subject to the referendum process; define a procedure for validation of the form of a petition or ordinance; and a methodology for addressing conflicting Charter amendments approved by the voters? Yes ☐ No ☐

5. Charter Review Board
Shall the Charter be amended to require review of the City Charter every six years beginning in January 2030 in order to align with the general election schedule? Currently, the Charter is reviewed every five years, which often does not align with a scheduled election thereby creating a delay in voter consideration of the board's recommendations. Yes ☐ No ☐

The election, which shall be held in accordance with the Charter of the City of Coconut Creek, Florida, and the State of Florida Election Laws, shall be held on Tuesday, November 3, 2026, between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. Voting in the City of Coconut Creek is at-large. # CIUDAD DE COCONUT CREEK
AVISO DE ELECCIONES REFERENDARIAS

Por la presente se notifica que el 3 de noviembre de 2026 se llevará a cabo una elección referendaria en la Ciudad de Coconut Creek, Florida, para que los electores de la ciudad voten sobre cinco (5) preguntas en la boleta electoral, propuestas por la Junta de Revisión de la Carta Constitucional de Coconut Creek y la Comisión Municipal, relacionadas con cambios a la Carta Constitucional de la ciudad.

1. Aclarar el cálculo de los "días" y confirmar que la Comisión establece los salarios del Gerente Municipal y del Abogado Municipal ¿Se debe enmendar la Carta para proporcionar una aclaración general, especificando cuándo las referencias a "días" significan días calendario y cuándo se refieren a días hábiles, y aclarando que los funcionarios para los que la Comisión Municipal establece los salarios son el Gerente Municipal y el Abogado de la Ciudad? Sí ☐ No ☐

2. Prohibición de que el Alcalde o los Comisionados sirvan en la junta directiva de una asociación de propietarios o de condominios durante su mandato en la Comisión
¿Deben modificarse los poderes y deberes generales del Alcalde y la Comisión de la Ciudad para prohibir que el Alcalde y los Comisionados de la Ciudad sirvan simultáneamente como miembros de la junta directiva de una asociación de propietarios o de condominios ubicada dentro de la Ciudad mientras ejerzan como Alcalde o Comisionado de la Ciudad? Sí ☐ No ☐

3. Autorización a la Comisión Municipal para determinar durante el proceso presupuestario si las asignaciones deben cancelarse
¿Debe enmendarse la Carta para eliminar el actual período de caducidad automática de cinco años de las asignaciones no gastadas y, en su lugar, autorizar a la Comisión Municipal a determinar, durante el proceso presupuestario anual, qué asignaciones se considerarán canceladas? Actualmente, la Carta exige la cancelación de las asignaciones en un plazo de cinco años si no se desembolsan o se comprometen, lo que reduce la eficacia de la planificación financiera a largo plazo. Sí ☐ No ☐

4. Revisión de los procedimientos de iniciativa, referéndum y revocación de mandato
¿Debe enmendarse la Carta para revisar los procedimientos de iniciativa y derogación para establecer que el Código de Desarrollo Territorial, el Plan Integral y las ordenanzas relacionadas no estén sujetos al proceso de referéndum; definir un procedimiento para la validación de la estructura de una petición u ordenanza; y una metodología para abordar las enmiendas contradictorias de la Carta aprobadas por los votantes? Sí ☐ No ☐

5. Junta de Revisión de la Carta
¿Debe enmendarse la Carta para exigir la revisión de la Carta de la Ciudad cada seis años a partir de enero de 2030 para alinearse con el calendario de elecciones generales? Actualmente, la Carta se revisa cada cinco años, lo que a menudo no coincide con una elección programada, lo que provoca un retraso en la consideración de las recomendaciones de la junta por parte de los votantes. Sí ☐ No ☐

La elección, que se celebrará conforme a la Carta de la Ciudad de Coconut Creek, Florida, y a las Leyes Electorales del Estado de Florida, se llevará a cabo el martes 3 de noviembre de 2026, entre las 7 am y las 7 pm. ## Reducing Crime Since 2019: BSO's Approach to Combating Crime

As your Sheriff, keeping our community safe is my top priority. That means responding effectively when crime occurs, holding offenders accountable and preventing crime before it happens.

Since 2019, Broward County has experienced a significant decrease in crime. In areas served by the Broward Sheriff's Office (BSO), overall Part One crime[1] has decreased by 23%, with violent crime down 18% and property crime down 24%. These numbers reflect meaningful progress in our public safety efforts. Behind every statistic is an individual, a family or a business, and every reduction in crime means fewer people experiencing the financial, emotional and personal impact of being victimized.

The numbers tell an important story, but they also reflect the work our public safety professionals are doing every day across the county. Reducing crime requires more than responding after an offense occurs. Our work begins before a crime occurs, with understanding what is happening in the community and using that information to guide our efforts. One of BSO's greatest strengths is our district-based approach to policing. Our detectives know the neighborhoods they serve, and we combine that local knowledge with crime analysis to identify trends, recognize emerging issues and determine where our resources can make the greatest impact. This allows us to tailor our response to the needs of each area.

When a crime does occur, BSO detectives work behind the scenes to gather evidence, follow investigative leads, connect cases and identify those responsible. Their work helps hold offenders accountable and prevent future crimes.

Prevention and education are equally important. Many crimes are crimes of opportunity, and our deputies regularly work with residents and businesses to identify simple steps to reduce the likelihood of victimization. One of our proactive initiatives is BSO's While You Were Sleeping program, where a deputy identifies preventable security concerns during routine patrols and leaves a notice with practical information to help address them. Other initiatives strengthening our community policing efforts include our Neighborhood Support Team (NST) and Park, Walk and Talk programs, where deputies connect with residents, address concerns and share crime prevention tips while out in the community.

Reducing crime is not the result of one program, one unit or one strategy. It requires a comprehensive approach that brings together visible patrols, proactive policing, thorough investigations, crime analysis, targeted enforcement, prevention programs and strong partnerships with the people we serve.

Our focus is simple: to ensure Broward County residents feel safe in their homes, on the streets and in the community. We are proud of the progress we have made since 2019 but recognize that public safety has no finish line. As crime trends change and new challenges emerge, our approach will continue to evolve. We will use data to guide our efforts and put resources where they can have the greatest impact, preventing crime before it happens.

For more information about BSO's crime prevention programs or to contact your local BSO district, visit https://www.sheriff.org/le/.

1 Part One offenses are defined by the FBI Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program. Indexing divides these into two categories, violent or property crimes, which are considered the most serious offenses tracked for crime-reporting purposes.

What Are The Differences Between A Will And A Revocable Living Trust?

By Attorney Martin Zevin

Many people mistakenly believe that, if they have executed a Florida Will, probate will be avoided when they pass away. This is not true.

In Florida, an Estate will go into probate when a person owns any property in his or her name alone without named beneficiaries. For example, if your spouse is deceased and the deed to your home is in both of your names, that home will have to go through the probate process in Court when you die. Likewise, if you have a brokerage account or bank account in your name alone with no one named as payable on death, that asset will also need to be probated upon your death.

The main purpose of a Will is to designate who you want to get certain assets when you die. If you die without a Will in Florida, the law will still require probate of your assets and your beneficiaries will be based on your closest living blood relatives. Florida Law provides for an order of priority of blood relatives if someone dies without a Will. If you are a Florida resident and own real estate in another state, it is likely that two probates will be required: a primary probate in Florida and a secondary probate (known as an ancillary proceeding) in the state where the property is located.

With cash assets such as bank accounts, CD's, brokerage accounts, annuities, life insurance policies, etc. you can avoid probate by designating one or more beneficiaries on the account. These beneficiaries will be entitled to the proceeds of that account upon your death, regardless of whether you have a Will or what you may have indicated in the Will; in other words, the designation of a beneficiary in a specific account takes precedence over anything stated in a Will. The Will will only apply to those assets where there are no designated beneficiaries (or if the beneficiaries have died before you).

Therefore, one of the primary reasons that many clients choose to create a Revocable Living Trust is to avoid probate on all of their assets, particularly their home and any other real estate. I have many clients who own their primary home in Florida and a vacation home in another state. We create a Revocable Living Trust in Florida and also prepare a Quit Claim Deed to transfer the Florida property into the Trust. An attorney in the other state can then prepare a Deed transferring that property into the Florida Trust. This legal work will avoid probate in both states and allow for quick and easy sale or distribution of the properties.

The Trust which we prepare also provides that your Successor Trustee (the person or persons you designate to administer the Trust after you pass away) can also take over managing the assets of your Trust if you become legally incapacitated. Legal incapacity is defined in the Trust document with language that requires a written statement from two medical doctors indicating that you are not able to carry on your legal affairs. The language allows your Successor Trustee to take over without a Court Order, but still provides you the protection of requiring written statements from two doctors.

In addition, it is much more difficult to contest a Revocable Living Trust than a Will. Your Successor Trustee can sell your properties and make distributions very quickly following your death, whereas the probate process required for a Will generally takes six to nine months or longer.

I leave you with the words of wisdom that my father left for me: "May you live as long as you want and never want as long as you live."

It's Time To Dance

By Diane Gottlieb

On Rosh Hashanah, we wear dress shoes. We're being judged, after all, so why not show G-d our best! On Yom Kippur we wear non-leather shoes. Until recently, leather shoes were considered the most comfortable and luxurious, and Yom Kippur is a day where we deny ourselves comfort and luxury to demonstrate how much we atone for our past sins. So, leather on Yom Kippur? A no-no. What kind of shoes should we wear on Simchat Torah? There is only one answer: Dancing shoes, of course, because on this joyous holiday, we dance—with the Torah!

Yes, the peak of the Simchat Torah service is the hakafot, where we sing and dance in circles, holding rolled, wrapped, and tied Torah scrolls. Hakafot is not an exercise of sitting and studying the Torah's holy words. Rather, it is an active celebration meant for all Jews—not just the Torah scholar—as the Torah is as much the birthright of the newborn infant as it is of the wise sage. The Torah, in other words, belongs to each and every Jew equally!

Simchat Torah is a day of great joy—it is the day when we both complete the annual reading of the Torah and start it all over again! But why does the holiday move us so? What's so special about ending a book and then starting from the beginning again? Because the Torah's wisdom is endless. Its bountiful gifts keep on giving throughout our lives and throughout time. Each year, when we start reading anew, we gain a deeper understanding and appreciation for its holy words and lessons. Like a spiral staircase, with each go-round, we arrive at a higher place. And the joy and anticipation of the beauty that awaits us, as we start reading the Torah again, is great reason for celebration!

The spirit of holiday is expressed in its name. Simchat Torah does not mean "joy with Torah" or even "joy from Torah," but, instead, "joy of Torah." This is because the Torah itself rejoices! After the whirlwind of holidays—Rosh Hashanah, Yom Kippur, Sukkot, and Shemini Atzeret, comes Simchat Torah, our final party with G-d before we enter the year ahead. So, get inspired and bring your dancing shoes! As the Chassidic masters say, "On Simchat Torah the Torah scrolls wish to dance, so we become their feet."

We at Chabad of Coconut Creek would love you to join us in celebration!

We hope to see you on Shemini Atzeret. Services are on October 2nd & 3rd.

Simchat Torah services October 3rd & 4th.

Our adult education program is back and ready to roll! We're offering 3 terrific new JLI courses—with a discounted rate if you sign up for the bundle. Please join the always inspiring Rabbi Dovid Friedman for Kabbalah and the Hidden Architecture of You, a 6-week course beginning Thursday, October 22nd. Get ready to learn all you ever wanted to know about Reincarnation, Soulmates, Dreams, Names: What These and Other Mysteries Say about the Design of Your Life.

Rabbi Friedman's teachings continue into the winter with JLI's 6-week course The Missing Piece: The Foundation beneath Israel's Central Place in Jewish Life.

And what better way to welcome spring than with JLI's 4-week course Chew on This: The Meaning, Heritage, and Soul of Jewish Food! Rabbi Friedman's teachings will surely provide delicious intellectual and spiritual nourishment!

Speaking of nourishment, we are very excited to announce Chabad of Coconut Creek's Kitchen of Kindness program! Kitchen of Kindness is a Chabad international initiative, and we are proud to be a participant in the growing global network, bringing comfort and support through food and acts of kindness. We would love you to become involved! There are opportunities to cook together, package meals, and/or deliver them. Our first cooking get together was a great success! Because of volunteers like you, we prepared delicious meals for those in need—and had a wonderful time while doing it!

Calling all women! Why not start off this new year with Rebbetzin Leeba Gansburg's lively and fascinating bi-monthly women's study group. Join Rebbetzin Leeba for a deep dive into the week's parsha and learn how to bring the lessons of Torah into your daily life. Alternate Wednesdays at 1:00 p.m.

Looking for warm and welcoming prayer services? We've got them!

We'd love you to join us for our weekly Friday Night prayers.

Begin your Shabbat morning bright and early at Chabad of Coconut Creek with an enlightening discussion about the week's parsha at 9:30 a.m. Services, starting at 10:00 a.m., are followed by a hearty kiddush lunch, providing warm community connection in a welcoming family atmosphere.

Why not start your Sunday morning at 8:30 a.m. with Tefilin—complete with a Bagels & Lox Breakfast!

And join us for Monday-Friday for our daily Minyan, beginning at 7:45 a.m.

Here's one more offering that will help our greater community: If you are looking for a meaningful volunteer opportunity, the South Florida Jewish Academy is looking for you! We need volunteers to tutor our students who would benefit from some extra one-on-one tutoring in English, Hebrew, reading, or math. If interested, please reach out!

We look forward to greeting you soon—whether at a class, a service, or simply for a friendly visit. Reach out at 561-929-8587 or come by 3700 Coconut Creek Parkway.

2027 Homestead Exemptions

If you applied and were approved for the Homestead Exemption for tax year 2027, this exemption will show online in December. Once approved, Homestead Exemption automatically renews each year provided there is no change in the ownership or use of the property. You do not need to reapply for this exemption if the property remains your permanent residence.

Did You Acquire or Take Ownership of Your Property in 2026?

If you acquired your home in 2026, the TRIM (proposed tax) Notice you received in August reflected the previous owner's exemption status which will be removed at the end of this year. If this property is your permanent residence and you believe you qualify for a 2027 Homestead Exemption, you must complete an application in your name. To be eligible for 2027 Homestead Exemption, an applicant must both own and make the property their permanent residence as of January 1, 2027.

Please note: "permanent residency" does not require physical occupancy of the property. If you are building or intend to build a home to be used as your permanent residence, please call our Customer Service Department at 954-357-6830 to discuss Homestead Exemption eligibility requirements.

Homestead Exemption does not automatically transfer from one property to another. You can easily apply for Homestead Exemption and any other tax-saving exemptions online at https://web.bcpa.net under the "Exemptions & Classifications" tab. If you previously owned another Homesteaded property within the past three tax years, you will also be applying for portability. The portability application is part of the online Homestead Exemption application.

The timely deadline to apply for all 2027 exemptions is March 1, 2027. For additional information on Homestead and other exemption filing, please visit our website at https://web.bcpa.net/ or call 954-357-6830.

If my office can ever be of assistance to you, please do not hesitate to contact me directly at martykiar@bcpa.net.

Israel Network Has a New Look

By Linda Storfer

We are very excited about starting the 2026-2027 season at the end of this month on Thursday, October 29th in our "new home." If you have relatives living in Israel or if you support Israel, we welcome you to join us every month in Ballrooms B and C from 11:00 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. We are not a religious or political group but rather a social and advocacy group of individuals who are united by our love and support of Israel, the only Democratic country in the Mideast. This month we are pleased to announce Ms. Heidi Carmel, a much sought after speaker will be joining us to discuss "Volunteer Opportunities in Israel" and share with us her experiences in the Mishan Nursing home located in Be'er Sheva over the past fifteen years. She will also be discussing some differences between American and Israeli nursing homes. Refreshments will be served and raffles prizes will be given out.

Please note the new day and location of our group. If you wish to have more info about joining, please contact Ellen at 954-822-8601. To make a reservation, please call 412-818-6883.

WYNMOOR'S PLANTS OF THE MONTH

Alcoasia Odora 'California'

Commonly referred to as Elephant Ear is a tropical plant with large, slightly ruffled, heart shaped leaves that loves the shade. Too much afternoon sun and the tips will burn. It stays smaller compared to other varieties of Alocasia, only about four feet, so it won't get too big for neighboring plant material. It can also tolerate some colder weather as well, making it a great choice to fill up space where turf won't grow under trees cover.

Duranta 'Sapphire Showers'

Duranta 'Sapphire Showers' is a fast-growing tropical evergreen shrub known for its cascading clusters of violet-blue flowers edged in white that appear from spring through fall. The showy blooms are a butterfly attractant as well. The plant is more popular as a small ornamental accent tree, and is ideal for smaller bed areas where a pop of color is desired.

Thryallis (Galphimia glauca)

Native to Mexico and Central America, is right at home in Florida. This shrub is resilient, relatively fast growing and always showy with wispy yellow flower spikes. Consequently, it is highly attractive to bees, butterflies, and hummingbirds. It's best allowed to grow big to truly appreciate flower display but will take pruning well. Generally considered a low maintenance plant pest and drought resistant once established. Give some room and let it bloom!

Scary Scams As Halloween Approaches

As Halloween approaches in a few weeks, here's a look at some of the "scary scams" we've warned you about recently. If you're not seeing these, download the Creek Armor app on your phone. You can find out more information on by visiting www.coconutcreek.net/creekarmor. It'll ensure you never miss any of our important updates.

Jury Duty Scam

Bank tellers sometimes wear superhero capes. Allow us to explain in this Coconut Creek Police Department Scam Alert.

A woman recently went to her bank scared and confused. A scammer posing as a cop called her and told her she had missed jury duty. It was the classic Jury Duty Scam.

They told her to go to her bank and withdraw a bunch of her money, probably then planning to send her to a Bitcoin machine.

The teller noticed she was concerned and asked her why she was making such a big withdrawal. The woman's answer immediately told the teller it was a scam.

The teller then talked her out of sending the money. So, you see… sometimes bank tellers do wear capes! She certainly did a great job here!

If you get a similar call, it's a scam. So just hang up.

Bad Guys Cloning City Phone Numbers

We've gotten word that the bad guys have cloned some city phone numbers and are using them to call folks claiming to be representatives from health insurance providers. So far, we've not talked to anyone who has fallen for the scam. Which is good. Help us keep it that way by getting the message out that if you get a call from a number where the first three digits are 9-7-3, and they tell you it's about health insurance, just hang up because it's a scam.

Apple Support Scam

Another visit from the sinister Apple Support Scam is the foundation of our latest Coconut Creek Police Department Scam Alert.

An 83-year-old man recently called us after it happened to him. The fraudster told him his account had been compromised and convinced him to withdraw a bunch of money from his bank account and put it into a Bitcoin machine in another city.

Remember, if you get a phone call like that out of the blue, it's always a scam. The scammers telling you to put your money into a Bitcoin machine means it's always a scam.

Next Drug Take Back Date Announced

The federal government announced that the next Drug Take Back will be on Saturday, October 24th. Ours will be at the usual time and location, which is 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at the Community Center, at 1100 Lyons Road.

Help us keep your unwanted prescription drugs out of the wrong hands by bringing them to us for safe, environmentally friendly disposal.

Our friends from Coconut Creek Fire Rescue will be there as well collecting sharps (needles).

In Memory Of
Michael E. Brodie

By Jennifer James,
Photography Club President

Sadly, the Photography Club of Wynmoor has lost a gifted photographer and a mentor. Michael Eli Brodie 83 was born September 15, 1942 in NYC and died on August 16, 2026, from prostate cancer. He leaves his wife Corinne of 57 years, his son Charles, his daughter Nicole and their beautiful families with his five grandchildren. Michael was very proud of his IT career with SNET, The Hartford, CIGNA and Aetna.

Mike loved teaching people and sharing his gifts of music, billiards and photography. He was a member of several clubs in Wynmoor. He had a great sense of humor; he told riddles to everyone: wait staff in restaurants, nurses and physicians in the hospital. He pursued his photographic interests. He joined photo groups in Fort Lauderdale, in Coconut Creek and a third one in Delray. His critiques of photographs were peppered with references to song lyrics and lines of poetry.

Personally, I will always remember him as a man who was willing to share his extensive knowledge of photography. On one field trip to Morikami Gardens, I shadowed him, picking up hints on camera settings and composition. He taught me how to make a ray of sunshine in the trees into the shape of a starburst. If you asked him how many photos you should take of a particular scene, he always said that you take as many images as you need until you get the one you want. We won't be able to replace him, but we can go on to improve our skills, knowing that he would be very proud of our efforts. And, I have lost a good friend.

By Charmaine Nandoo, Founder of Pearl Life Well Gathered

Charmaine brings personal experience and a genuine understanding of the challenges families and seniors face when sorting, preserving, and passing along meaningful belongings.

There are some things in life that don't seem important until suddenly, they are.

An old jacket.

Two pots sitting in a kitchen.

A watch tucked away in a drawer.

A photograph you've seen a hundred times.

On their own, they may not seem like much.

But sometimes, it's the story behind those things that makes them priceless.

I've come to understand that in different ways throughout my life.

When my dad was diagnosed, we thought we had time.

We had about eight months.

Looking back, those eight months feel like eight seconds.

There were appointments, decisions, emotions, and so much happening at once. We were focused on being together and making the most of the time we had.

But there were questions we didn't think to ask.

Why did you keep this?

Who did it belong to?

Where did it come from?

What did it mean to you?

Why was it important enough to carry all these years?

I wish we had asked.

Because once someone isn't here to answer those questions, we can be left holding their belongings without knowing the stories behind them.

And I've learned that sometimes the smallest things can carry the biggest memories.

My niece isn't here anymore.

A few months after she passed, I was going through some of her things and came across one of her jackets.

I kept it.

One day, I put it on. I think I just wanted to feel close to her.

I slipped my hands into the pockets and found a little handwritten shopping list.

It was just a list of things she was planning to buy for dinner that night.

Nothing extraordinary.

But I knew she had written it.

I could picture her going about an ordinary day, making plans for that evening.

And suddenly, that little piece of paper wasn't just a shopping list.

It was a moment of her life.

It brought tears to my eyes.

Because sometimes an ordinary object can open a door to a memory we didn't even realize we were holding onto.

Then there are my grandmother's pots.

A few years ago, while she was still alive, I asked if I could have two old pots that I had seen for as long as I could remember.

They were part of my childhood.

I remember seeing them on her stove and eating the food that came from them.

When I asked her about the pots, she told me that they had belonged to my great-grandmother. Our family believes they were among the first things she purchased after coming from India to Trinidad as an indentured servant.

My grandmother had used those same pots for much of her life.

At the time, I didn't realize what a gift that conversation was.

I simply wanted the pots.

But after my grandmother was gone, I realized what a privilege it had been to sit with her and hear her tell me their story while she was still here to tell it.

Because now, when I look at those pots, they don't just remind me of my grandmother.

They take me back.

I can picture her kitchen.

I remember the food.

I can almost taste it.

And when I tell my children, "These belonged to your great-great-grandmother," I feel something that is difficult to explain.

There is pride in knowing where you came from.

There is pride in holding something that passed through the hands of the people who came before you.

And there is something deeply meaningful about knowing that one day, you can place that same object into the hands of someone who comes after you and tell them the story.

That's when I realized something.

I wasn't simply keeping two old pots. I was carrying something forward.

That is what our belongings can do.

They can trigger a memory.

The story gives that memory context.

And together, they can keep a piece of someone present long after they're no longer here to tell it themselves.

I think many families experience this when they begin going through a lifetime of belongings.

It can be overwhelming.

There are boxes, drawers, closets, photographs and things that haven't been touched in years.

And it's easy to look at it all and think, What are we going to do with all of this?

But maybe there is another question worth asking first:

What stories are here?

Before we decide what something is worth, perhaps we should understand what it means.

Before we put something in a donation box, perhaps we should know why it was kept.

Before we pass something on, perhaps we should write down the story that belongs with it.

Because someday, our children may hold that same object.

And wouldn't it be wonderful if they didn't just know what it was?

But who it belonged to.

Where it came from.

Why it mattered.

And the story of the person who held it before them.

We don't just inherit things.

We inherit stories.

But if the stories aren't told, eventually all that's left are things.

That's why I believe preserving memories is about so much more than keeping possessions.

It's about giving families a way to remember.

It's about honoring the people who came before us.

It's about helping the next generation understand where they came from.

And it's about making sure the little pieces of our lives—the handwriting, the recipes, the photographs, the jewelry, the blankets, the old pots—don't lose their meaning when we are no longer here to explain them.

Because our legacy isn't always found in the biggest things we leave behind.

Sometimes it's found in the smallest things.

A note in a jacket pocket.

Two pots in a kitchen.

A photograph in a drawer.

And the story that someone took the time to tell.

Preserve the memory.

Tell the story.

Pass it on.

Because in the end, we aren't just deciding what is worth keeping.

We're deciding what parts of our story deserve to live on.

Chess Club

Plays Every Tuesday Evening

By Hillel Cohen

Welcome back Snowbirds! It's time to get back into the game.

The club has been meeting regularly throughout the summer and now we are ready to welcome back both new and returning players. The Chess Club meets every Tuesday Evening from 6:30 to about 9:30 p.m. in Card Room 1 at the Clubhouse. It's indoors and air-conditioned, so we meet no matter the weather, unless of course there is a hurricane going on. If you have played at the club before, come back and meet some of the new players. If you haven't participated before, what are you waiting for? Perhaps you haven't played since high school and you're wondering if you remember enough? We hear that a lot, because most of us hadn't played in years. So, stop wondering and start playing and you'll be surprised how quickly it will come back. The Wynmoor Chess Club welcomes all players at all levels. And if you play online or against a computer, come and experience the difference of face-to-face play. There are no dues and no fees. Chess sets are provided. Games are casual and relaxed. No one's keeping score or rankings. The point is to have a pleasant time while exercising our brains.

New members are trained at the beginning of each season by club President Oreet Fagen, and there is much to learn! Selecting your glass, cutting it, grinding it, tacking or fusing it, and selecting your mold to slump it are some of the steps in creating the beautiful works that result from these efforts. Jewelry, bowls, dishes, serving pieces, candle holders, night lights, ocean waves, village scenes and free form sculptures are just some of the creative pieces being produced. We also have the chance to learn new techniques and get new ideas from Oreet at the beginning of each season. The club has

Pottery Club

The Pottery Club continues to evolve. We have implemented a system to have membership be a larger part of our management and decision making along with the Board. We now offer monthly reviews of basic techniques which are also a plus for returning snowbirds.
